The Buchanan Element.

It is not yet time to fix with accuracy the Buchanan vote in this State; but enough is known to make it certain that no man was ever so disgracefully thwarted as Mr. Buchanan has been. He has displayed vindictiveness and malice along with impotency of the most puerile sort; but of strength, neither he nor his friends have a bit. Their rage—their passion torn to tatters—has amounted to nothing. They have made no impression—have not left a trace of their efforts on the general result. There are whole counties in which they have not a vote. In Chicago—their head quarters—where there are nearly one hundred Post Office clerks, half a score in the Custom House, as many the employes of the Marine Hospital, as many more of the Marshal's, and a like number on the public works, they mustered just two hundred and fifteen men! In other places—Johnson county is one of them—where Republicanism is a higher crime than horse-stealing, and where our party cannot command ten votes, the Buchaneers have not one vote—not one! In other counties—Boone, Winnebago and De Kalb are examples—where Republicanism is a form of religion and the common faith of the people, where Democrats are as rare as buffaloes, the rule holds good. The polls show that Douglas is the party and Buchanan the bolter with whom the party will not affiliate. Possibly in all the one hundred counties of Illinois the Buchaneers, aided by all the power and patronage of the Cabinet, have influenced five thousand men! The official returns may increase the number slightly, but will more probably diminish it a half. It is said that the body of the party voted the straight Republican ticket as the most direct and certain method of reaching the object of their vengeance. The assertion cannot be true. In localities where a few votes would have elected a Republican representative, as well as in others where there was no possible motive for abandoning the Buchanan organization, the result is the same. There is not now and never has been a Buchanan party in Illinois. The officers were appointed and duly commissioned; but the recruits did not come in. That's the plain truth; and every shrewd politician in the State has known it for a month at least.

There is this to be said: There is every reason to believe that the forces depended upon by the Buchanan leaders were severed from them by an influence beyond Presidential control. Depending upon the Irish as the most ductile material with which to work, the labor of the office holders did not extend far beyond the pale of the Catholic Church. For a time they seemed to be making progress; but when the day of trial came, they were met by a mandate from high ecclesiastical authority that at once tumbled their cob-house down about their ears. This may account for the lamentable show which they have made in the fight. As they have not the courage to mention the fact, we urge it upon Mr. Buchanan as the only excuse for his Illinois friends. Poor old Buck!

Ten Thousand Republicans at Home on Election Day.

Every letter we receive from the northern counties containing official returns brings the comfortless intelligence that from one to five hundred Republicans staid away from the polls on account of the rain. The whole State north of the parallel of Peoria was drenched, and in every county not closely contested a large number of Republicans, deeming the State ticket safe, preferred the comforts of a fireside to a ride or walk of two or three miles in the rain. Fortunately our State ticket is elected without the enormous aggregate rolled up by the northern counties in 1856. But this thing will never do. The Whig party in the olden time was distinguished for its love of ease in bad weather. We trust our friends will learn a lesson from the narrowness of their escape this time. We believe our State ticket suffered to the extent of 10,000 votes last Tuesday.

About Outstanding Bets.

We have very little sympathy for the man who loses an election bet, and still less the man who wins one; but having been inquired of several times whether wagers against Mr. Douglas' re-election should be given up, we suggest that none of them are due until the event takes place on which the overcoats, patent leather boots, silk dresses, trotting gigs, cash, etc., were staked. Mr. Douglas cannot possibly be re-elected before January, and he may not be then. Of course parties who pay over now will stand a slim chance of collecting back, in case of a slip between cup and lip.

Nationals in the Legislature.

The Buchaneers still claim two or three members in the House from Egypt. We have received the official returns from two counties which they relied on—Franklin and Alexander. In the former Thomas M. Vance (National) has 373 votes, to 447 for James Hampton (Douglas.) Wm Bradley has 254 votes for the same office—politics not ascertained. Jackson county, connected with Franklin in the Representative District, remains to be heard from.

In Alexander County John C. Hunsaker (National) has 301, to 391 for William A. Hacker (Douglasite). Pulaski and Union counties are yet to be heard from in this District. In Jonesboro, Union county, Hunsaker had about 200 majority. We think it quite likely Hunsaker is elected, and though improbable, it is not impossible that the Buchaneers may hold a balance of power in the Legislature. At any rate, the Douglasites in those parts feel a little "ticklish" about it.

State Bank of Iowa.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Bank of Iowa, at Iowa City, it was resolved that for the present they would deliver to the different Branches bills for circulation only equal to the capital paid in, allowing the circulation in future to be increased as the Board may deem advisable. The Executive Committee were instructed to call a special meeting of the Board as soon as bills for circulation are procured and ready for distribution to the Branches, which it is supposed will be the latter part of December.

Sale of the Water Power at Moline.

We learn from the Moline Independent that a company of New York capitalists—among whom are Dean Richmond of Buffalo, Hamilton White, John Wilkinson, Charles B. Sedgwick, John D. Norton and Peter R. Reed, of Syracuse, and Samuel J. Goodwin, of Oneida—have purchased the fine water power in that place and some two hundred acres of land adjoining, where they intend to erect immediately several large manufacturing establishments.

Thanksgiving in Iowa.

Gov. Lowe has appointed the 25th inst. for Thanksgiving in Iowa. In enumerating some of the reasons for thankfulness to Providence, he well says:

> By His providence He has shown us the strange evanescence of riches which have wings, the folly of attempting to fare sumptuously every day in vain speculation instead of hardening the hand and moistening the brow with honest toil.

☞ The Milwaukee Sentinel, of Saturday, concedes that Larrabee (Dem.) is elected over Billinghurst, (Rep.) in the Third Congressional District of Wisconsin.

Fire at Moline.

On Monday morning, about one o'clock, the saw mill of Chamberlin & Dean, on the dam, was discovered to be on fire. Before the engine reached the spot, it was entirely destroyed. Mill and machinery worth about $4,000. No insurance. Without a doubt the fire was the work of an incendiary.—Independent, 3d.

THE POPULAR MAJORITY!

OUR STATE TICKET CERTAINLY ELECTED!

ILLINOIS A REPUBLICAN STATE.

Illinois has pronounced against Douglas by her popular vote and elected the Republican State Ticket by a majority which we estimate at FIVE THOUSAND at the very least. The Democracy at Springfield telegraphed to this city on Saturday that eighty-three counties had been heard from—giving a Republican majority of 2,200, supposing the remaining seventeen stood as in 1856. We judge we shall have a larger majority than Gov. Bissell received two years ago.

When you get up your glorification here Messrs. Democrats, call for three cheers for Fondey and French!

CANAL CLOSING.—Under the Marine head will be seen a dispatch to the Collector stating that the Canal will be closed on the 1st proximo.

CORRECTION.—The notice for a lecture by the Rev. James Baume before the Young Men's Christian Association, which appeared in our Saturday's issue, should have been for this evening.

PERSONAL.—On Saturday Hon. J. R. Giddings of Ohio, J. G. Saxe, the poet editor of Vermont and Judge Weed of Illinois were at the Tremont House. Hon. H. W. Kellogg, M. C. elect from Michigan, is at the Matteson House.

STEALING BOOTS.—On Saturday last in the Police Court a man named Richard Sloan was held to bail in $200 for stealing a pair of half-worn boots, worth about $3, from one James Soraghan. Sloan says he is a sailor, and that while absent from the city on a late trip, Soraghan took a pair of boots belonging to him and wore them out, and that he merely took these in retaliation.

ACCIDENT ON THE CHICAGO, BURLINGTON AND QUINCY RAILROAD.—On Thursday last the Burlington train, which left Chicago at 10 P. M., was thrown off the track about three miles west of Aurora. The entire train left the rails, and the engine was badly smashed, and the baggage car somewhat broken, but fortunately no person was hurt. The accident is supposed to have been caused by some defect in the track.

THE UPPER MISSISSIPPI.—Through tickets can now be purchased to all points on the Mississippi River, via the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad. On the first inst. the packets gave notice that all railroads must discontinue the sale of tickets beyond the terminus of their Road, but arrangements are such now, that passengers can again be accommodated by paying through to destination, and we can safely recommend the St. Paul and Fond du Lac Road as the only direct route to the Northwest.

FALLING OFF.—The Police Court has been a great sufferer in the decline of its business during the rainy term of twenty days up to Saturday, and with that circumstance the city news column has the keenest sympathy. Whether it has been because the policemen could not get about as usual, or because the venders of the grade exposed have per force taken too much water in their whisky in the superabundance of the former element, it is certain there has been a great falling away in police quarters.

WEST SIDE UNION DEPOT.—J. Edgar Thomson, T. Haskins Du Puy, George Cass and other high functionaries in the railroad world were in town last week, holding preliminary council, and (as a sort of committee of ways and means, with plenary powers) were negotiating for the selection and purchase of a site for the new great Union Depot, which will be the grand terminus of the Pennsylvania Central and Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroads, as well as the common centre of the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac, Chicago and Milwaukee, and other great roads diverging to western and northwestern points of the compass from our city. We learn that their efforts have been attended with most satisfactory success. Unless unanticipated obstacles of an insuperable nature intervene, the locus in quo of the Depot that is to be, will be on the West Side, and will occupy two blocks between Canal street and the river, from Madison to Adams street. In the frequent interviews held by Mr. Thomson, chief agent in this matter, with our West Side friends most interested, the most friendly feelings and conciliatory disposition has been manifested. A liberal and highly commendable spirit has characterized both contracting parties. This desirable result at the outset was principally attained by the manly, straight forward, liberal and honest course Mr. Thomson has all along pursued. Our West Siders were agreeably disappointed in the man they had to deal with. Mr. Thomson's high reputation as a financier had preceded him, but the latent suspicion (if such was entertained) on the part of our citizens, that railroad financiering meant a happy faculty of making contracts which should be altogether one-sided, proving their loss and the gain of the railroad companies represented—was at once most happily dispelled. With none of that petty meanness and small intrigue (which Burns so aptly terms "the chicanery of bargain making"), Mr. Thomson's plain, direct, unvarnished mode of treating the matters under consideration; his high-toned, honorable propositions, which if accepted would ultimately accrue to the advantage of all concerned, left no ground for doubt. In place of distrust, a cordial understanding was at once inspired, and we have now no hesitation in expressing our candid conviction, that the great Union West Side Depot, which has so long engrossed the hopes and attention of our citizens, will soon be realized—that, in fact, it may already be considered un fait accompli.

We congratulate most heartily our West Side brethren upon this "consummation so devoutly to be wished" by all who have spirit enough to comprehend, appreciate and welcome the proud results to our city generally, and the West Side especially, which will follow in the train of such an achievement. By the time another number of our paper is issued, the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad cars will, without doubt, be running over their own exclusive line of track uncontrolled or unimpeded by the arbitrary movements, jealousies or dicta of competing lines, into the heart of our city. From the dome of the new grand Union Depot, which will then be forthwith erected, one will be enabled to descry the dawn of that bright future which will envelop and irradiate the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago and Pennsylvania Central Railroads with that brilliant success the exertions of their able, far-seeing officers have so truly and worthily earned.—Chicago Railroad Gazette, 6th inst.

A REMARKABLE CASE OF DISHONESTY!

A STORE PORTER STEALS HIMSELF RICH!

Employers Robbed of $10,000!

A KEY GAINED TO A MYSTERY OR TWO.

Larceny of Goods—Store Fired to Conceal the Theft!

FRESH WARNING TO MERCHANTS!

A most singular case of dishonesty on a large scale, by a humble employe in a mercantile house, has just been brought to light in this city. We wish we could pronounce it singular in other respects than of mere magnitude, but it is too true that no small list enrolls the number of employes who are suffered almost notoriously to carry on expensive living by robbing their employers.

And even in magnitude this fresh instance of a knavish employe is not without a precedent in a city where a merchant, not many months ago, awoke one morning to the consciousness that a fully equipped first class hotel structure, five stories high, and thoroughly appointed for the excellent business it has since done, had been built with stealings from his money drawer and stock in trade by one of his clerks.

These two Lake street peculatory romances, occurring within a stone's throw of each other, and no long period of time apart, we put against any that have ever occurred on a similar scale in the United States. There are features singular and peculiar to itself in the case developed on Saturday in Justice Milliken's Court, which stamp it as most remarkable, and deserving of more than a passing notice. Let us give it in the order of occurrence rather than development.

THE STORE FIRED.

Some months ago, at an early hour after the usual closing of our Lake street dry goods stores for the evening, an alarm of fire was sounded for the First District, and the salesroom of Messrs. Thompson & Wetmore, a Dry Goods and Silk House on Lake street, near the corner of State street, was found to be on fire. The shutters and doors were forced and the premises deluged with water, the fire being extinguished without extended progress, though it included in more or less serious loss and ruin both the lower store and the silk and shawl room in the second story, having been at work upon the stair-case, the flames thus invading both rooms.

The earliest investigation as to the origin of the fire, and the statements of those first on the ground as to the earliest appearance of the same, though nothing was developed to fix a definite crime upon any person, was nevertheless almost irresistibly the source of grave suspicions implicating the occupants of the premises. Had they been less the high-minded and well esteemed men of business men they were, the members of the firm could have less fully and completely and on the ground of character alone refuted the implication. The house had been well established and doing an excellent business, but not long after the fire made an assignment and have since been winding up the business of the late firm in the hands of Frederick Tuttle, Esq., assignee.

A LEAK DISCOVERED.

About the first of last month Cyrus P. Bradley, the well-known Police Detective of this city, turned his very wide-awake attention to a matter which was apparently needing some such notice. The point proved a good one, the lead was well worth working, and has developed most excellent results as far as the advancement of the cause of justice is concerned.

Information reached the detective that a German, named Frederick Gross, living on Wells street, and employed as a porter in Thompson & Wetmore's store, was selling large quantities of dry goods in the shape of silks, velvets, flannels, blankets, hosiery, gloves, buttons and various other articles, at about half cost to various tailors and small dealers in the city, and had also peddled to a large extent in the country among the farmers. Further investigation revealed the fact, that Gross came to this city about three years ago very poor, and at the time in question, was in possession of a house very finely furnished and also had large sums of money loaned out. This sudden accumulation of wealth not coinciding with the low-salaried occupation of a porter, and the fact of his doing such a thriving business in the dry goods line, gave rise to the suspicion that the goods were stolen from the store.

Capt. Bradley at once informed Frederick Tuttle, Esq., the assignee, of his suspicions, and inquired if there was any deficiency in the store. Mr. T. replied affirmatively, but still was very loth to suspect Gross, as both Messrs. Thompson & Wetmore and the clerks had the most implicit confidence in the porter, and have trusted the store in his hands several times. It was determined, however, to keep a strict watch upon him, and accordingly, the employes watched him during the day and Capt. Bradley at night. During the watch, the latter traced him to several places where he sold goods, and the former observed him take a piece of flannel after serving a customer. Thinking the matter had gone far enough, Capt. Bradley visited his house on Friday, and found there $600 worth of goods of every description, packed away in trunks, boxes, carpet bags, and in every available place. He was subsequently arrested, and acknowledged taking the goods.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS.

It is believed that the operations of this Gross extend over a period of three years, and reach an extent of $10,000, though he himself "thinks he did not take quite as much as that."

He has thus been a persistent and successful robber of his employers, managing his operations with a skill and industry worthy of a better cause, and the while he was realizing a goodly income from his dishonesty, having the prudence and skill to keep his apparent expenses and mode of living within the means of his class in life.

His plan of operation was as follows: He came down to the store before breakfast, opened it, swept out and placed the show goods outside of the window. After the clerk came, and while he was walking to the back part of the store, Gross would go out and taking a roll of goods, go to his breakfast. Small articles he would take during the day, and put in his pockets, when unperceived by his employers and the clerks.

THE SUPPOSED INCENDIARY.

Since his arrest facts have been discovered which lead to the belief that Gross has added to the list of his crimes the firing of the store of his employers as above, to conceal a deficiency in the silk department. It has been discovered that on the day after the fire he told his wife that he might be arrested for it, and wanted her to swear an alibi, a fact which gives strong grounds for the suspicion of his guilty connection with the fire.

On Saturday morning Gross was examined before Justice Milliken and fully committed in default of $1,500 bail.

There is a moral in the above, if employers will only find it; there should be a warning in it which employers might profit by, to guard more closely the leaks and surreptitious outgoes from their profits, and even from their business existence.

We often wonder why the proprietor of a store giving employment to a score or so of clerks, at salaries certainly known and fixed, and not unfrequently at too low a figure for the safety of the young clerk's honesty, can go on month after month with the evidence patent to the entire community, if not to the merchant himself, that rich attire, fine jewelry, fast horses and fast companions of either sex cannot comport with and fall within five or six hundred dollars or less per annum, the while that his own clerks are some of them under his own eye venturing such experiments of living.

Our wonder is still stronger that merchants can allow any on their premises to "steal themselves rich," and the circumstance above adduced should induce increased caution.

TRAIN OFF THE TRACK—CHICAGO, ALTON AND ST. LOUIS R. R.—On Thursday night of last week the cattle train on the St. Louis, Alton and Chicago Railroad, bound north, met with an accident about three miles north of Pontiac station. Owing to some defect in the rail, the engine and tender of the cattle train were thrown some distance from the track and badly smashed, causing, however, only some slight injury to one or two of the cars. Fortunately only one person was injured, the brakeman being slightly hurt. On this account the night passenger train for Chicago was detained at Pontiac from 4 to A. M., to 2 o'clock P. M., on Friday.

SPIRITUALITIES.—We learn that a few days since, on the Michigan Central Railroad, while a train was passing Lake Station, an Irish woman on a train in a double sense, in a fit of drunken frenzy left her children, ran to the platform and jumped from the car. She hid herself in the woods, but the next day was found and sent to this city, where she rejoined her children and is now on her way to join her husband, who had removed from the East in advance of his family. Whisky is a curious thing.

GREAT DECLINE.—As shown by the state of the thermometer at E. L. O'Hara's drug store, No. 30 West Randolph street, corner of Canal:

THE COURTS.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—IN CHANCERY.—HON. JNO. M. WILSON, Judge. Volney E. Roscoe and fifty five others vs. City of Chicago and Geo. W. Colby.

In this case a bill of injunction was filed by the complainants against the city and Geo. W. Colby, Special Collector of the South Division, in the month of January, 1856, to restrain the city and Colby from collecting the assessment levied for the opening and extension of Lasalle street from Madison to Jackson street. The bill alleged various irregularities in the proceedings of the Common Council and on the part of the Commissioners; also, that the notices given by the Commissioners were of too general a character, not describing definitely the property assessed; that the property of the complainants had been exorbitantly assessed while they were not at all benefited—the lots of the complainants being situated some four blocks from the terminus of the proposed street.

The case was argued by E. Anthony, Esq., for the city, and King, Scott & Wilson on the part of the complainants.

The Court held that the proceedings of the Common Council and the Commissioners levying the assessment could not be reviewed by the Court in Chancery, after the assessment roll of the Commissioners had been finally confirmed; that the notices alleged to be too general had been held sufficient by the Supreme Court in the recent case of the City of Ottawa vs. Macy, and they were in conformity with the requirements of the charter.

As to the assessment being exorbitant, it was a matter left with the discretion and judgment of the Commissioners; and they being invested with this large discretion, if the parties allowed the proceedings of the Commissioners to be once confirmed by the Common Council, they could not be again reviewed. The citizen has by the charter the most ample opportunities to rectify any proceedings pertaining to assessments for the opening of streets, and if he allowed these opportunities to pass without attending to them, the final confirmation of the Common Council acted as a judgment, and that judgment could not be reviewed in Chancery.

This decision determined a large number of cases at once, and is of considerable importance.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

NO EXCUSE.—There is no excuse for any one not at all times presenting a respectable appearance, when Cook & McLain, 96 Dearborn street, remove every spot of paint or grease from old clothes, and make them appear in every respect equal to new. Many of our citizens by a liberal patronage of their establishment, save at least fifty per cent. on their tailors bills.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3, 1858.

To Messrs. Platt, Lumbard, Cady, Kimbark and Coe, Executive Committee, and Messrs. Haines, Egan, Lake and others:

Gentlemen:—Your polite favor of the 2d and 3d insts., offering me a complimentary concert, "at such time as may suit my convenience," has just been received. The compliment is the more gratifying because unexpected, and I find myself at a loss for words to express the gratitude which I feel in view of the kind and flattering terms in which your offer is conveyed. It will give me great pleasure to accept your proposal, and I would name Tuesday, the 23d inst., as a convenient time for the concert.

With sentiments of regard, I remain,
Yours, very respectfully,
EMMA G. BOSTWICK.

(PATENTED AUGUST 24, 1858.)

PREMIUMS AWARDED AT THE LATE Mechanical Fair held in this city.

The foundation of this roofing consists of Canvass saturated with Asphaltum, underlaid with Felt paper, or of Felt alone. The covering compound is composed of Asphaltum, India Rubber and Gum Shellac. A new method having been discovered of dissolving Rubber and Shellac, allow'he any quantity desired to be used, and combining them with Asphaltum, without the use of expensive and injurious solvents used in all the Coal Tar Cements, which always evaporate and leave the Composition porous and brittle. In this compound all the volatile matter is removed, entirely freeing it from such defects, and is known to be the most durable material for roofing in the world.

Old Composition Roofs of every description repaired in a permanent and satisfactory manner.

All orders promptly attended to. Orders from the country supplied with the prepared Canvass Paper and Composition, with instructions.

State and County Rights for sale on terms of great advantage to those who wish a permanent business.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE CIRCASSIAN.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 6.—The steamship Circassian, from Galway on the 27th ult., arrived at this port at half-past 6 o'clock last evening. The first part of the passage the Circassian encountered stormy weather. She has 300 passengers.

By this arrival we have Liverpool mail advices of the evening of the 25th, and telegraphic accounts to noon of the 26th.

The steamship Arabia from New York, reached Liverpool at 10 o'clock on the evening of the 24th. She put into Southampton on the 23d for coal.

The British war-gun steamer Gorgon arrived at Plymouth on the 22d from Halifax and Fayal. The Gorgon took soundings for another line of Atlantic Telegraph from the banks of Newfoundland to the entrance of the English Channel via Fayal.

The Daily News says the North Atlantic Steam Company (Galway line) received by the City of Washington applications from America for £50,000 stock, which, added to the subscription already made, exceeds the required capital.

The British Board of Trade returns for the year ending Sept. 30th show a decrease in exports during the last nine months of over £9,400,000.

FRANCE.—The French Breadstuffs market continued dull.

The Portuguese Government yields the Charles Georges to France, declaring that it is only to the threatened employment of force. The Paris Patrie says that Portugal yields not from fear but wisdom.

PRUSSIA.—The first Chamber rejected by 81 to 76, a proposition to send an address to the King and Prince Regent.

TURKEY.—The American frigate Wabash arrived at Constantinople on the 11th. A letter says that as America is not included in the treaty, the Wabash has been allowed to come up, although she far exceeds the size of vessels allowed to pass the Dardanelles. She took out 20 of her guns, however, so that only 30 showed in the port holes, which is nine more than the treaty allows.

ENGLAND.—The submarine telegraph between Dover and Calais had ceased working, and was believed to be broken. Communications between the two countries was kept up by Ostend and Cape of Good Hope.

The steamship Eastern City, was destroyed by fire at sea, on the 24th of August, all on board saved except one engineer and a passenger.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

LONDON, Tuesday Oct. 26.—Portugal, as formerly, delivered up the ship Charles and George, and liberated the Captain. The Prussian Chambers unanimously affirmed the necessity of the Regency and adjourned.

A Murderer Convicted, and Another Murder Committed.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—Henry Gambril, one of the notorious gang of rowdies who infest the southern part of this city, and who murdered police officer Benton about a month since, one of the best officers in the city, because he was the chief witness against his brother on a charge of incendiarism, was this afternoon convicted of murder in the first degree.

This evening police officer Rigdon, who was the principal witness on the trial against Gambril, was also shot dead, in the western part of the city, by one of the same gang.

The murder was committed in the police officer's own house, and in the presence of his wife and children. He was an exceedingly active and faithful officer, and his sad death is deeply regretted. The murderer's name is Corre. Great excitement prevails in regard to the affair, and threats are made of lynching the murderer.

SECOND DISPATCH.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—An effort was made to rescue Gambril last night. He was conducted to jail by an armed escort of eighty police, and the jail was crowded all night, there having been rumors of a contemplated attack upon it.

Peter Corre, who was arrested for shooting officer Rigdon, turned State's evidence whilst under fear of the vengeance of the excited populace, and said the shot that killed him was fired by Aaron Crops, who was subsequently arrested. Both have been committed for trial, the former as an accomplice and the the latter as the principal.

The police also arrested five other notorious rowdies during the night, as accomplices and for endeavoring to rescue the prisoner.

Wasting their Powder.

KALAMAZOO, Nov. 6.—One hundred guns are now being fired here on account of the success of Douglas in Illinois.

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—One hundred guns were fired here last evening in honor of the success of Douglas in Illinois, and success of the Democracy in the First Congressional District in this State.

GALENA, Nov. 6.—The Democrats are firing 100 guns in honor of Douglas' victory in this State. Bonfires are burning on the tops of the hills surrounding the city, and great joy is manifested.

Steamboat Disaster—Four Persons Killed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The steam propeller W. H. Foote, whilst steaming up the North River this afternoon, was blown to pieces by the bursting of her boiler. Five persons were on the boat, four of whom were killed, and the fifth badly mangled. One man was blown one hundred feet in the air, his body falling on another steamer and crushing through the hurricane deck.

Chess Match in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—This evening's Bulletin announces the prospect of a very interesting chess match between the New York Club and the Atheneum players of this city. The match is to be played by telegraph—the American Telegraph Co. having placed the wires at the disposal of the Clubs for the purpose. The contest will probably come off next week.

Movements of Steamers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The steamers Vigo, for Liverpool, Illinois for Aspinwall, and Washington, for San Juan, went down the harbor to day, but it is probable they will not go to sea until the storm abates. The Vigo took 200 passengers and $120,000 in specie. The Washington took 300 passengers, and the Illinois a large number.

The Mormons Traduced.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—The Republican publishes a communication from a leading Mormon stating that they have been traduced and slandered, and demanding a full and impartial investigation of the charges against them.

Condition of the U. S. Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The balance in the Treasury on the 1st of Nov. was $7,453,000; the receipts of the week $782,620; the amount of drafts paid $1,321,000, of drafts issued $1,129,000; a reduction of $347,090.

Steamer Arrived.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The screw steamer Glasgow, Capt. Thompson, from Glasgow at 10 P. M. on the 23d ult., arrived this noon, but brings no papers of a later date than the morning of the 23d, and no later news.

Teams and Stock on the Plains.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Wm. Wallace, lately from California by way of Salt Lake, reports having seen on the plains 1,560 vehicles, 8,081 yoke of oxen, 704 mules, 46 horses and 1,230 head of loose cattle.

Wisconsin Election.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—In the 2d Congressional District, as far as heard from, Washburne's majority is 3,353. Third District, Larrabee, Dem., has a majority of 1,130; Oconto and Shawanee Counties to hear from. Larrabee is considered elected.

The Black Warrior.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—The steamer Black Warrior has arrived with upwards of 300,000 in specie.

Chess Monthly for November.

A HIGHLY INTERESTING NUMBER TO CHESS PLAYERS.

Morphy the Greatest Player in the World.

THIS NUMBER CONTAINS SIX OF Morphy's Games with the great German, Harrwitz, who was compelled to yield to the American's prowess. Also, the Progress of Morphy in Europe—The Blindfold Games in Paris—The Score in France—Incidents and Anecdotes—The Effect at Home, &c.

Mr. Lowenthal says that many of Morphy's Blindfold Games in Paris are worthy of the greatest masters when playing over the board. And Walker, the English Chess authority after Staunton, declares that one of the games deserves to be inscribed in letters of gold on the walls of the London Chess Club.

New Collection of Church Music.

THE JUBILEE, BY WILLIAM B. BRADBURY, proves one of the most successful of this very popular author's works. It embraces the greatest variety, in all departments, for Choir, Congregational, and Singing School use. Containing, as it does, about HALF AS MUCH AGAIN matter as other similar collections issued this or last season, an extraordinary amount of new matter is presented, without omitting the standard old tunes, without which no book is complete.

THE JUBILEE contains a new Sacred Cantata entitled "Esther, or the Beautiful Queen."

☞ ANTHEM EDITION. An edition is also issued, giving an additional number of choice new Anthems, for opening and closing worship, in place of the Cantata "Esther." Those wishing this edition will please order the ANTHEM EDITION. Published by

It is Seldom that we notice anything in the medical line, nor would we now, unless we could be convinced that we are not doing our duty as journalists, in recommending to the public Dr. J. Hostetter's Celebrated Bitters for the cure of that most terrible and fatal of all diseases, Fever and Ague. From our own experience with this valuable specific, we can safely say, that for diseases of the above nature, it stands without a rival. Its timely assistance has saved many a fellow-being from a premature grave. Every day we hear of it conquering the worst cases of Fever and Ague. To those who are in the least afflicted with any of the complaints arising from an irregularity of the digestive organs nothing can be more beneficial than these Bitters. We cheerfully recommend them to the thousands in this State who are suffering the most intense pain, as a certain cure for their ills. Try them and be convinced of their many excellent qualities.

PRESS AND TRIBUNE.

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 8, 1858.

What they Propose to Do.

The Douglas Democrats of this city who poured out their money so profusely during the recent election, will endeavor to realize something substantial out of their victory. Already we begin to hear their boasts of the municipal advantages they have gained by the result which proves so disastrous to us. It is a part of their programme, we learn, to move early, and, with their partisan majority probably effectually, for an amendment of the City Charter in such a way that the power of the Irish in the Council will be not only secured but perpetuated. They will have no hesitation in cutting up the old Wards into a multiplicity of new ones, with an eye always to political advantages, in stripping the Mayor of all power to nullify the evil that the Council may do, and in putting the whole city, as far as the Legislature can do so, at the mercy of the men who will march in Mr. Douglas' triumphal procession.

Our readers know the Democrats well enough to understand that they will not shrink from anything which promises to give them a new lease of power, and that whatever they can do to secure our police courts, the city treasury, the police force and the public improvements, in the hands of the minority, will be unhesitatingly done at the earliest practicable moment. The tax-payers in this city who have contributed to the triumph which will entail the consequences that we have indicated, may, before two years have elapsed, find themselves laughing out of the other corners of their mouths. When the Irish domination is once more established, the fruit of the victory won by Mr. Douglas will be fully realized. When his friends vainly lament the increased insecurity of person and property, largely increased taxation for which no corresponding benefits can be shown, and the general abominations of successive dynasties like that of Dyer, they will have little reason to be gratified with what they have done. In a pecuniary point of view, the loss of the Legislature has detracted a million of dollars from last week's valuation of Chicago property alone. When they attempt to free themselves from their self-imposed yoke, they will be met at the polls by the same mob and the same police that have overridden law, order and the elective franchise in times past.

But the evil consequences do not stop with Chicago alone. To a greater or less extent the iron rod will be applied to all the Northern and Republican parts of the State. In the Apportionment law that the Legislature will now be sure to frame, we shall taste anew the sweets of Democratic misrule. But let us not anticipate the evil that will flow from Democratic doings. The reality will be bitter enough when it comes. Let those who have an interest in good government, who have property to protect and rights to preserve, look well to the future. Let those of this class, who have aided Mr. Douglas, shiver as they contemplate the consequences of their folly.

The Senatorship—Prospect of More Warm Work.

Douglas claims to have fourteen of the twenty-five Senators. On the other hand, the Buchanan men confidently assert that two of the fourteen are Administration men, and that they will not vote for Mr. Douglas under any circumstances. If there be any truth in the claim of the latter, Mr. Douglas' election is by no means certain. We have no doubt but that two of the Senators have given expression heretofore to feelings of hostility towards Mr. Douglas; but we have supposed all along, and see no reason now for a change of opinion, that their opposition would melt away before the influences which Mr. Douglas will be able to bring to bear upon them.

It may be, however, that in this we are mistaken. It may be that Mr. Buchanan, with all the patronage of the government at his disposal, will outbid Mr. Douglas. At all events the presence of a Buchanan element in the Senate, capable of holding the balance of power if it chooses to do so, will give rise to not a little diplomacy on the part both of the President and his friends on the one side, and of Mr. Douglas on the other. Perhaps a foreign mission, a territorial governorship, or judgeship, or some other snug little favor of that character, may after all defeat Mr. Douglas.

In the next place the Buchanan men claim to have two, if not three members of the House. They also assert that there are six more Democratic members of that body who will not support Mr. Douglas. We know not how all this may be. We are inclined to doubt the accuracy of it in toto; but whether true or false, there is a great opening for driving bargains in the House as well as the Senate. Upon the whole there is good reason for believing that the efforts of the Administration to defeat Douglas have not ceased with the election. In relation to the Buchanan and anti-Douglas element in the Legislature, the Chicago Herald of Saturday has the following:

> On the eve of going to press we have received private dispatches from Cairo, Jonesboro, Shawneetown and other points in Egypt, assuring us of the election of two, and, probably, three National Democrats to the lower House, and assuring us, also, that three of the Democratic Senators holding over will, beyond doubt, oppose the re-election of Douglas. Added to this good news, we have the assurance that several of the Senators and Representatives just elected, and supposed to be favorable to Douglas, will not support him, but will maintain the integrity of the Democratic party of the country by voting for Judge Breese, or some other good and reliable Democrat.
>
> This intelligence comes to us in such shape and from sources so reliable, that we cannot doubt it—cannot doubt that Mr. Douglas will be defeated in his efforts to secure his re-election to the U. S. Senate.
>
> The true friends of the Democratic party in the Legislature, rather than throw a fire-brand in the National Councils of the party, will so vote as to prevent the election of either Douglas or Lincoln, and leave the matter open until 1860, when the Democracy of the State will be better able to settle the controversy consistently with the welfare of the Democratic party.
> We congratulate the Spartan band of National Democrats in Illinois, and the Democracy of the country generally, upon this intelligence, and assure them they may rely upon its truthfulness. Douglas is defeated, and the Democratic party will be safe from his disorganizing efforts after the next session of Congress, which will finally close his Senatorial career. This is as it should be. Let every Democrat in the land rejoice!

Compliment to Gov. Bissell.

The Republicans of New York, during their late canvass, printed large editions of the speech of Gov. Bissell, on the slavery question, made in the house of Representatives, in February, 1850, and scattered them broadcast over the State. We have no doubt that the reproduction of the Governor's eloquent and truthful sentences—now identical in meaning with the Republican platform—had a potent effect in the great battle which has just been fought. It is no mean compliment, that the people of a distant State, after this lapse of time, should come to Illinois for the intellectual material with which to carry on their campaign.

Land Warrant Decision.

The following is the decision of the Attorney General of the United States in reference to titles to land warrants:

> It is held that the heirs of a man are those persons who are entitled by the lex rei situs to take his inheritable real estate at the time of his death. His legatees are those to whom he bequeathed his personal property by will. Heirs sometimes means children, in common parlance, and the word is to be so understood in the statutes when the context shows that intention to have been in the mind of the legislature. But, says the Attorney General, I am not aware that any reason exists here for taking it in a sense different from that in which it is usually and properly accepted. This act of Congress, then, vests the land in the persons to whom the claimant may have left it by will; and if he died intestate, then it goes to his heirs—that is, to the persons who are entitled to claim his real estate by the intestate laws.

Cabbages and Disunion.

We have found a new bond of union for our republic. The Atlanta Georgian acknowledges the receipt of cabbages from the New York market, which sell readily at 401 per cent advance on cost, and says the idea of a people who will not raise their own cabbages being bored to death by agitators about independence and urged to disunion, is preposterous. If they will not raise cabbages now they will not raise them then, and the South would have to import them from a foreign country, with a tariff of two or three cents per head tacked on to help to defray the expenses of the Government, or, for incidental protection to encourage the home production! Dissolve the [illegible] and import cabbages—preposterous!—

Bright Places in the Late Battle Ground.

Now that we are beaten—beaten by an apportionment which gives the Southern counties of the State an advantage over us of the North, in the ratio of making 750 voters equal to 1,000—we derive a high satisfaction from the knowledge that wherever the Republicans have done hard work—real, downright bone labor—they have made large inroads on the pro-slavery ranks. It is also an omen of the happiest import that the Republicans of Illinois vote the regular ticket. It is this which has given such uniform success to the Democracy, and no party can ever accomplish the ends for which it was instituted unless its members adhere rigidly to this rule. Throughout the State we believe our candidates were of the first character and ability in their respective communities, yet it is a significant fact as showing the efficiency of our organization, that the ticket went through with hardly any variation in the general aggregate. Our Senatorial candidates in the three doubtful Districts which we carried—Mr. Addams in the Galena, Mr. Bestor in the Peoria and Mr. Marshall in the Charleston Districts, run ahead of their party vote, and we have no doubt it will be found that Mr. Gillespie in the Alton District does the same. Mr. Aplington in the Rockford District is some 500 votes ahead of his ticket. So also several candidates for the Lower House. But the total result from Cairo to Chicago convinces us that the Republican party in Illinois is in better fighting condition than in any other State in the Union. In saying this we do not disparage our brethren elsewhere, but we challenge the whole United States to show a contest entered into with such disadvantages, which has shown such brilliant results for a party of only two years' growth.

But we wished to call attention to a few localities where the Republicans have triumphed with uncommon labor and unexpected success. We will say first, that we regarded the Galena Senatorial District as doubtful. There, our friends worked day by day, from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof—result, over one thousand majority.

Edgar County we gave to the Democrats—it having given Richardson 257 over Bissell, and Moore 87 over Miller, in 1856. The event has shown what can be done by such men as Richard Moseley, Thos. A. Marshall, R. J. Oglesby and Abraham Lincoln. The XVIIIth Senatorial District, consisting of Vermillion, Coles, Cumberland and Edgar, was generally considered doubtful, though we relied upon it throughout. Our gallant candidate, Mr. Marshall, dropped his business and went into the canvass like a four horse team. He comes out of it with a majority in every county but one, and an aggregate of over five hundred. In passing, we must award a high meed of praise to the boys in Vermillion who have increased their majority over one hundred.

Mr. Craddock, Representative from Coles and Moultrie, has snatched one vote from the Democracy by a close and hard fought battle.

To Mr. Stickel, and the Republicans of Champaign, De Witt, Piatt and Macon, we of the North owe a vote of the heartiest thanks. In fact the Eastern half of the State has out done our expectations.

Peoria county has not only redeemed herself, but a large extent of territory in her neighborhood. Mr. Bestor has in all respects made a splendid fight of it. Putnam county has covered herself with Republican honors, and "Molly Stark," as they call the partner of Peoria in its Representative capacity, has distinguished herself above all the "Mollys" we know of.

In Fulton County, adjoining Peoria, our friends put forth extraordinary efforts. This was probably as well organized as any county in the State. The usual Democratic majority of 800 was ciphered down to 300 by the gallant boys of old Fulton.

McDonough, next door to Fulton, was also desperately contested. Indeed, we do not understand how Mr. Hume was defeated, unless by wholesale importations—which is shrewdly surmised by persons whose business leads them frequently over the Burlington & Quincy Railroad.

The Republicans in Adams and Brown, native and foreign born, have acquitted themselves most nobly in reducing the majority against them from 1,300 on the Bissell and Richardson vote to less than 500 on that for Lincoln and Douglas. The city of Quincy is one of the brightest spots in the State.

Returning to the centre, we find that the Republicans of McLean have doubled their majority in spite of importations. In Logan we have gained over one hundred, by incessant labor.

We now take a flight to the counties of Bond and St. Clair, in the former of which we have gained one hundred, and in the latter nearly two hundred. Our friends in Montgomery have gained about one hundred votes since 1856.

In the Ist and IIId Congressional Districts there was very little contest and comparatively a light vote. In the IIId Mr. Lovejoy's majority is increased over one thousand. This has been made by untiring exertion on the part of our eloquent candidate. In the IVth Judge Kellogg's majority is increased some four hundred. Judge K. has, to our knowledge, contributed very largely to the Republican increase in that section of the State. Mr. Grimshaw has made an admirable fight in the Vth. We never believed it possible to affect Mr. Harris' majority in the VIth. His illness was more eloquent than any speech he could have made. Mr. Oglesby in the VIIth has, on the whole, made the best race in the State for Congress. Shaw (Dem.) had 3,116 majority in 1855. Robinson now has less than 1,500 we think. Mr. Baker did not take the field in the VIIIth soon enough to make the impression he is certainly qualified and destined to make on the people of the St. Clair District. He has all the qualities which gave Gov. Bissell and Judge Trumbull their power in those counties, enabling them at times while in the Democratic party to run successfully against regular Democratic nominations. We have nothing very flattering from the IXth, but from the returns before us we feel sure Mr. Phillips has gained a thousand on the vote of 1856.

Progress of the War in Mexico.

Advices from Tabasco state that Governor Simon Sarlat, the Zuloaga commander of Tabasco, has proclaimed martial law in his department, owing to the invasion of the Constitutionalists from Chiopa. Angel Corzo was the commander of the latter force. A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune writes October 17th:

> The American Consul, a few days ago, was informed that a battery would be erected in the rear of his house, against which he stoutly protested, stating that it would draw the fire of the invaders, and his family would be killed. But, of course, if Sarlat had a right to turn American citizens out of their houses and convert them into barracks and hospitals, he had a right to place a battery in rear of the residence of the Consul.
>
> A few days ago a meeting was held by the Spanish merchants of the place, the object of which was, to charter a schooner, and dispatch her immediately in search of a Spanish man-of-war, inform her of their extremely perilous situation, and beg her to come to the rescue of their lives and property. Accordingly the schooner proceeded on her mission; but I very much dread that before she finds the necessary aid, many of the poor Spaniards will have paid the penalty of their rashness and folly.
> At this moment all the stores are closed and their contents dispatched to the most convenient hiding-place, (except those under foreign protection,) and nothing is talked of but the dreadful attack of the Cochinos—as the Corso forces are called. In the meantime, Corso is calmly awaiting the arrival of artillery of heavy calibre from Vera Cruz to attack the place. Sarlat has twelve pieces of artillery of various calibre, from four to twelve pounders. He has also received, by the schooner William W. Harkness, which has just arrived from New Orleans, and consigned to the house of Payro, six or eight cases of United States muskets; but they are comparatively worthless, from the fact that the powder used is too coarse to penetrate the tubes.

Grand Cathedrals and Multitudinous Pauperism—A Question for Archbishop Hughes.

A few weeks ago the corner-stone of a grand Roman Catholic Cathedral, located on Fifth avenue, New York, was laid with the imposing ceremonies peculiar to that church, Archbishop Hughes being the chief orator of the occasion. The event elicited unwonted religious enthusiasm among the people of his charge. The Archbishop was more inspiring and eloquent than usual, and was interrupted by the cheers and huzzas of the assembled multitude, as if it had been a political meeting. And no wonder. According to the Archbishop's statement the enterprise was one of the grandest successes in his most successful career, reflecting immense credit on his own efforts and the liberality of those who had given their money to help it forward—perhaps no small glory upon the church. Its estimated cost, he said, would be three quarters of a million of dollars—possibly a full million—leaving his hearers to infer, if they pleased, that it would eclipse in splendor the most magnificent palaces of "Vanity Fair." Like Solomon's Temple, it would take seven years to build it; and immense as would be its cost, there was no fear that the means would fail to be forthcoming. He had only taken the trouble to address a circular to the faithful, and one hundred and fifty persons had responded in the handsome sum of $103,000.

We give the Archbishop's facts, not his language. Liberal as were these contributions, a great deal more would be wanted soon, and he appealed to his hearers for their sympathy and co-operation upon the plea of its being one of the noblest and most important charities, and most beneficial to the poor. On this portion of his discourse, a writer in the Evening Post takes issue with the Archbishop. If he and his church are so charitable as they profess to be, how does it happen that of all the poor in that great city who suffer for lack of the necessaries of life every winter, and require assistance at the hands of the benevolent, fully two-thirds are Roman Catholics, while a very large proportion of the funds placed at the disposal of the various societies for the relief of the poor, is contributed by Protestants? And then comes the application for the writer's argument, which is a poser for the Archbishop:

> Now, if the Archbishop wields such an immense influence over the hearts and the purses of those who have abundant wealth, that he can by one simple act, requiring no greater exercise of mental or physical effort on his part than that of sitting in his comfortable chair in his comfortable study, in the Episcopal residence, and writing one short circular letter, and sending one hundred and fifty copies of it to as many different individuals, collect one hundred and three thousand dollars for so charitable an object as that of beginning a Cathedral on the Fifth avenue at a cost of not less than three quarters of a million of dollars when it shall be completed, for poor people to worship in—can he not do something towards raising funds to supply these same poor people with food, fuel and clothing, when they and their children shall be actually suffering for the want of all three in the coming winter months? Or does he still rely on the kindness and liberality of Protestants, who are accustomed to worship God in much less expensive structures than this one for the poor will be, to continue to supply their daily and pressing wants, as they have done for years? If he can accomplish so much, by so little effort, for such a charity, surely he can, if he will, accomplish much for the other and the more pressing one; and if, through his efforts, one quarter of the sum raised so easily for the Cathedral should be raised and placed at the disposal of the association above named, or in any other way judiciously applied, during the coming winter, in supplying the destitute among the Catholics with food, fuel and clothing, a vast amount of human suffering might be relieved, and perhaps crime prevented. But if the Archbishop thinks that the true channel in which charities should flow is in building costly and magnificent cathedrals, and while he can so easily command large sums for such a purpose, will make no effort to relieve present temporal sufferings, then ought not Protestants to pursue a somewhat different course from the one they have pursued, and one that shall convince the Archbishop that in this respect, at least, they do not agree with him in opinion?

Mr. Buchanan on the Fillibusters.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer makes the following pertinent comments upon Mr. Buchanan's late pronunciamento against the fillibusters:

> Mr. Buchanan has again peppered the fillibusters with duck shot, or, to reverse the figure, he has levelled a six pounder to kill a fly. Has not this business of letting off proclamations against miserable adventurers, like Walker and his crew, been rather overdone? The Government being in possession of specific information, has only to issue instructions to its local officers in the districts where the violation of law is threatened, and break up the plans of those concerned in them. The fillibusters themselves care nothing about proclamations, and if the existing laws cannot be enforced against them without proclamations, they must remain equally powerless without such bruta fulmina.

Missionary Ground.

The late wholesale arrest of public functionaries in New York may well suggest to the friends of foreign missions the wisdom of recalling some of the laborers among barbarians in foreign lands and setting them to work among the leading politicians of the commercial metropolis of the nation. The Times makes the following reference to the second batch of arrests, made a few days since:

> Under the new Charter, the newly-elected District-Attorney, N. J. Waterbury, Esq., enters immediately, we believe, upon the duties of his office, without waiting, as hitherto, for the 1st of January. Knowing this state of facts, his retiring predecessor is evidently inclined to make hay while his short-lived sun continues to shine. He seems to have thrown out a drag-net for official culprits—as the indictments which we publish in another column shows the haul which he has made. We have seen nothing equal to it since the day of miracles. The whole City Government are called on to stand up as prisoners at the bar, and make answer to charges of grave crimes and misdemeanors committed in discharge of their official duties. The late Mayor heads the list, and following after, in solemn procession, comes the fathers and step-fathers of the City—a dozen Aldermen and fifty Councilmen—on their way to the prisoner's dock to respond to the offences whereof they stand accused.
>
> Perhaps the worst feature of the whole affair is, that nobody is in the least surprised. The whole community treats the matter as of trifling consequence. That members of our City Government should be accused of peculation—that they should stand before the public as criminals and corrupt scoundrels—strikes nobody as at all remarkable. It is a long time since they have passed for anything else. Corruption and peculation have come to be considered as their normal condition—their native element. And any average New Yorker would as soon think of being astounded to hear that ducks were fond of swimming, as that an Alderman or a Councilman was in the habit of filling his own pocket instead of guarding the public treasury. This does not indicate a high tone of public sentiment, it must be confessed, but it indicates a still lower grade of official morality.

Double Tragedy in Philadelphia.

In Philadelphia, on Monday evening, Robert Dillon, a plasterer by trade, but more recently an oyster peddler, became furiously jealous of one of his mistresses, and rushed to the house where she was boarding, with the avowed intention of having his revenge. The girl being absent, no attention was of course paid to his knocks at the door of her room, which was situated in the upper story, and the half insane wretch climbed to the roof, with the intention of effecting an entrance by the chimney flue. By mistake he dropped into the wrong flue, but stuck fast when opposite the third story landing. His cries soon attracted the attention of the inmates, as well as of passers by, and every means was then used to extricate the unfortunate man from his disagreeable position. Ropes were lowered from the top, but his body being in such a posture, he was unable to take advantage of the assistance thus at hand. Finally, a hole was cut in the wall on the stairway, and Dillon was dragged out in an insensible condition. Every exertion was made to resuscitate him, but to no purpose, and after drawing one or two breaths he expired.

This event was only the first act in the drama. Dillon had another mistress, who went by the assumed name of "Anne Smith." He had quarrelled with this girl, and threatened to kill her, and she had declared her intention of drowning herself in consequence of his threats. She declared her intention to commit suicide to several persons during the evening, and had gone so far as to give away her effects to different parties, when intelligence of the death of Dillon was brought to her. She then said "good by" to those who were about her, and went away. The next morning at daybreak her body was found floating in a dock in the Delaware.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by suicide, though a man named William Berry has been arrested on suspicion of having pushed her into the water.

The American Bonaparte.

Jerome N. Bonaparte, Jr., arrived in the Fulton on Tuesday, direct from France, and is now stopping at the New York Hotel. Jerome N. Bonaparte is the grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, the only brother of Napoleon the Great now living. He is the descendant of the American branch of the Bonaparte family, Miss Patterson, of Baltimore, having been his grandmother. His father, Jerome Bonaparte, nephew of Napoleon the Great, still resides in Baltimore. Young Bonaparte has probably returned on a furlough to visit his relatives in this country. He graduated at West Point several years ago, and was there distinguished as the best swordsman in his class. In the examination of 1850 he was reported among the distinguished cadets for proficiency in mathematics, French and drawing. Shortly after the accession of the present Emperor of France to power, young Bonaparte joined the French army as a second lieutenant. He was in the Crimean war, and has been successful in obtaining position under the banner of France.—N. Y. Herald, 4th.

Centennial Celebration of the Capture of Fort Duquesne.

PITTSBURGH, November, 1858.

Editors Press and Tribune:

The citizens of Western Pennsylvania are making arrangement to appropriately celebrate the 25th inst.—the centennial anniversary of the Capture of Fort Duquesne, or in other words, the overthrow of the French and the establishment of the Anglo-Saxon dominion in the Valley of the Ohio. This event to us is of peculiar interest, but in many respects of the highest importance to the whole American People. The grandest project ever matured in the French Cabinet was the line of military fortifications, as a basis of colonial settlements, designed to connect Louisiana and Canada, and permanently establish French ascendancy in the valleys of the Mississippi, Ohio and St. Lawrence; and consequently to confine the Anglo-Saxon dominion to the eastern slope of the Allegheny Mountains. The great Napoleon's dream of Russian and Asiatic conquest did not equal this. The war with the French and Indians, to counteract this ambitious design, culminated (so far as we are concerned) in the capture of Fort Duquesne, on the 25th of November, 1758. In the five years of active field service of these campaigns, Col. Washington acquired that confidence in himself, that enlarged military experience, and that recognition of his eminent merits by the then Colonies, which led the Continental Congress to vest in him the higher responsibilities of Commander-in-Chief of the Revolutionary Army. It is therefore eminently proper that the Centennial Anniversary should be commemorated on the scene of former action.

We propose a grand procession of the citizens of Western Pennsylvania—in which prominence will be given to the municipal, county, State and National officers who may honor the event by their presence. The military and naval forces, the civic societies, literary and benevolent associations, the various trades and departments of industry at home and abroad—which may desire to be represented—the whole to terminate in the Pennsylvania Railroad "Duquesne Depot"—erected on the site of the old Fort—where appropriate addresses will be delivered in the afternoon, and Edward Everett has been invited to deliver his address on "Washington" in the evening.

The various committees pledge themselves that nothing shall be wanting on their part to make all their arrangements worthy of that memorable occasion. The railroad companies whose roads centre here will issue excursion tickets.

Very respectfully, yours,

Steam Plows.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

Three steam plows, it is said are harnessed for the trial. Decatur is the place and the tenth of this month is the day. One is expected from Troy, N. Y., one from Dayton, Ohio, and Fawkes, from Pa., is said to be on the ground. The glory of having mastered the prairie soil with steam is the first and highest prize; and five thousand dollars (in these hard times) is the second. Who'll be there to see? Ten years from now, if the first prize is won at this trial, men will sit and tell the tale, how they saw the first grand and successful effort to subdue the soil of Illinois with steam and how the thing went off.

That the contest will be exciting you may be sure. Will you go to see it? The game will be worth the trouble if we are not mistaken. Fawkes demonstrated, at Centralia, what could be done by steam in clay baked like to brick-stuff. Now comes the tug. What can he and his competitors do in our soil softened by a two weeks rain? Who'll be there to see? B.

TERRIBLE SHIPWRECK.

Loss of the British Barque Claude—The Captain's Wife and Seven of the Crew Drowned—Arrival of the Survivors at New York.

[From the New York Times, 4th.]

By the arrival at this port, yesterday, of the London packet ship Isaac Bell, Capt. Edward Johnson, we have received the particulars of a most fearful shipwreck and loss of life. Among those on board the Isaac Bell, were the captain, mate, and four seamen of the late British bark Claude, of Shoreham, Eng., which was lost at sea on the 29th ult.—the captain's wife and seven of the crew having perished with the wreck.

The following narrative of the event has been furnished by Capt. Chessell, of the lost bark:

The British bark Claude, of Shoreham, Capt. Charles Chessell, of 344 tons register, sailed from Quebec, bound for Sunderland, on the 18th ult., with a full cargo of timber. Nothing unusual occurred for the first five days, and everything passed pleasantly. On the 23th the wind sprang up strong from the westward. On the 24th the wind suddenly shifted to the east, veering to E. N. E. At noon our latitude by observation was 45° 45' N., lon. 57° 49' W. We shortened sail by close-reefing the maintopsails only. On the 25th a strong gale continued, with violent squalls, and a heavy sea, with rain. We handed the foretopsail, and continued to carry easy sail. At noon our latitude was 44° 44', long. 57° 10'. Upon sounding the pumps we found the ship was leaking, and making about two inches per hour. The pumps were rigged, and the ship pumped every half hour. On the 26th (sea time) the bad weather continued, with the wind from E. N. E. About 3 o'clock A. M., an exceedingly heavy sea struck the ship on the port bow, causing a fresh leak. All hands were put at the pumps, but it was evident the ship was making water fast, as we could not get the pumps to suck. At 10 o'clock the same morning the weather was worse; several heavy seas were shipped, and portions of the bulwarks were washed away. The maintopsail was now clewed up, and the yards hauled aback to ease the ship as much as possible. The men worked incessantly at the pumps. On the 29th, the wind and weather continued about the same, but the vessel laboring more heavily. All hands were kept constantly at the pumps, without time to eat their meals, but a biscuit and a glass of grog were given them about every two hours to cheer them up. By 10 o'clock A. M. we found the water gaining very rapidly, and at 11 o'clock A. M. it was up to the cabin floor. The men being now exhausted, and finding it useless to continue longer at the pumps, we immediately set to work to make arrangements for prolonging our lives until we should be fallen in with by some friendly sail. The sea was making a clean breach over the vessel, carrying away bulwarks, and everything movable upon deck. Provisions and fresh water sufficient to last a fortnight, the ship's instruments, and the most valuable portable effects of the captain and the crew, were accordingly taken to the tops, not the slightest fear of the vessel's capsizing or sinking being entertained, from the nature of her cargo, and the sea being so heavy, it was not safe to launch the boats. About noon, the ship filling fast, the captain's wife was taken to the maintop, and the crew were preparing to follow, when the ship fell over to starboard, and went down on her broadside, the yards and masts being totally submerged. The captain's wife got entangled in the rigging and was drowned almost immediately; the whole of the crew were washed off. Only nine of the thirteen succeeded in regaining the ship, the other five were swept away by the force of the sea, or drowned while clinging to the rigging and spars. The ship remained about an hour upon her broadside; during this time three more of the unhappy crew were washed off and lost.

About 1 P. M., the ship getting freed of everything on deck, and all her masts and yards except the mainmast and mainyard, righted herself, and the decks began to break up fast. The gale continued all day and night, but the rain ceased. Through the unexpected capsizing of the ship, the survivors were without food, water, or change of clothes—they were in fact absolutely destitute. To add to the horror of their situation, the dead body of the captain's wife, still entangled in the rigging of the ship, was constantly in view, though beyond their reach, on account of the torn and shattered condition of the rigging and spars. The ship rolled and plunged so fearfully that it was impossible for the survivors to get at the corpse to bury it in the sea. The crew remained in this condition through another night without food or water, and the next morning they were all very much exhausted and cramped by clinging to the rigging, and suffered intensely from thirst. About 11 A. M. they saw a vessel standing towards them, about ten miles distant, which proved to be the United States ship Isaac Bell, Captain Johnston, who, as soon as the wreck was discovered, being then about four miles to the windward, bore down towards it.

As quickly as possible, although the high cross-seas and strong wind rendered the undertaking very dangerous, a boat was lowered, commanded by Mr. Ordaere, chief officer, and manned by a volunteer crew. The unfortunate survivors were brought safely on board the Isaac Bell, in two trips, the weather being too rough to allow the boat to receive more than three in additon to the crew at a time. The body of the Captain's wife was, from necessity, left in the rigging. Captain Johnson treated the rescued with all the kindness and sympathy their thoroughly destitute situation required.

SAVED.—Charles Chessell, Captain; Henry Kimber, mate; George Lane, Henry Finnis, Henry Pursey, Robert Bartley, seamen, all of the County of Sussex, England.

LOST.—Harriet Chessell, Captain's wife; Henry Ede, boatswain; George Knowles, George Burgess, John Dunbro, George Mitchell, seamen, all of the County of Sussex; Philip McGee, Barnard Sheehy, natives of Ireland.

General Intelligence.

BURGLARS CAUGHT IN THE ACT—$4,000 WORTH OF SILKS RECOVERED.—Yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, Policemen Tillman and Higgins of the 4th District, discovered two suspicious looking men carrying loads of something through William street, and took them into custody, when they were found in possession of upwards of $4,000 worth of rich silks, stolen from the store of Mr. Sperling, No. 160 William street. The burglars were yesterday taken before the Mayor, who committed them to the Tombs, each in default of $1,000 bail.—N. Y. Courier and Enquirer, 3d.

COST OF THE EPIDEMIC IN NEW ORLEANS.—The annual message of Mayor Smith, of New Orleans, alludes to the epidemic, and states that since its commencement not less than $50,000 have been expended, besides the disbursements of the city treasury for the burial of the dead and the conveyance of the poor to the hospitals, and the multiplied private benefactions made by the charitable of the city while on their daily rounds of mercy.

INTERESTING FROM SYRIA.

Mussulman Bigotry—Inquietude of the Druses—Christians Slaughtered—The Effect of the Comet.

[Correspondence of the Boston Traveller.]

BEIRUT, Thursday, Sept. 28, 1858.

The thirst for blood is still showing itself in this part of the country, and the revengeful nature of the Druses who inhabit Mount Lebanon may be illustrated by an account of a horrible tragedy which occurred last week at the village of Tazanich, a few miles from Beirut. It was a case of blood, and in such cases the revenge of a Druse has never been known to sleep unappeased.

About eighteen years ago, a Christian killed a Druse in a quarrel, and succeeded in making his escape from the fury of the friends of the deceased—during which time two members of his family had been killed by the Druses, in revenge for the death of their friend; and, after wandering about for many years, he finally ventured to return to his home. It was supposed that as blood had been taken for blood, the feud was at an end; but, on one beautiful evening, while the Christian was in the midst of his family, and while entertaining a neighbor who had called to spend a social hour, a band of twenty-four Druses entered the house, and, after seizing the Christians, began to torture them in the most excruciating manner, cutting off their ears, noses, fingers and feet, before striking the fatal blow. The Christian, his family and guest were all brutally slaughtered, and the murderers having finished their bloody work returned home well satisfied with what they had accomplished. The families of the murdered Christians immediately assembled to the number of two hundred, and after much heated discussion determined to wait a short time to see whether the Turkish Government would revenge their wrongs, and if not, then to arise and exterminate the families of the murderers, which number about forty.

A deputation of eight persons were sent to Beirut to lay the complaint before the Government and to make an appeal to the American Consul, whose personal influence with the Governor it was thought desirable to secure in their favor.

Mr. Johnson, though contrary to his policy of noninterference in matters not strictly American, had an interview with the Pacha, at the request of one of the American missionaries, Mr. Benton, a very useful and influential minister residing at Bhamdoun, who had been a friend of the murdered family of Christians, and who was in the habit of holding a school and prayer meeting in the house of the leader of the murdering party of Druses.

The Governor forthwith issued orders for the arrest of the murderers, some of whom have been captured, but most of whom have thus far eluded the search of the soldiers of the Government.

Four of the Jaffa criminals have been arrested and convicted, as the perpetrators of the "Jaffa tragedy." The three who had been imprisoned for nine months, and who are now found to be innocent, have been released, and exhibit great joy and gratitude. Five hundred horsemen are scouring the country in search of the fifth murderer, and several Sheikhs are held in prison as hostages. His relatives have also been arrested, and each member of his tribe is pledged to apprehend the culprit, in order to secure the release of their chiefs.

It has been thought by many that the Christians and Druses are on the eve of another great struggle for the supremacy of Mt. Lebanon—and that a repetition of the bloody civil war which occurred about twenty years ago in which the native Christians were almost entirely crushed out by the Druses, is about to take place.

This feeling of alarm has been increased by the appearance of a comet, similar to the one which appeared a short time previous to their last great war in which so many thousand lives were lost. It seems that the appearance of a comet has always been with them an omen either of war, pestilence or famine, and they assert that for ages this phenomenon has never appeared without bringing with it one of these evils. Their fears amount almost to a panic, and are increased by the predictions of soothsayers and astrologers in whom they place such unlimited confidence that they are freely admitted into the Harems of the Pacha, the Governor and influential Effendis. These astrologers are always very old men, and the more tattered their garments the greater their popularity as fortune tellers and the stronger the faith placed in their predictions. It must be confessed, however, that they are not always mistaken in their prophecies.

I once knew an old man from India who called himself a magician, and predicted the Turco-Russian war with great exactness as to the time of its commencement. He was certainly the most singular looking being I ever beheld. He must have been 80 years of age—long tangled locks of hair strayed from an almost equally ancient turban, his beard reached far below his girdle, and his garments were as ragged as those of a beggar.

Personal and Political.

Schwartz, J. Glancy Jones' successor in Congress from the "Old Berks" district in Pennsylvania, was an original anti-Jackson man, supported Taylor in 1848, and Scott in 1852. From these antecedents the Philadelphia Argus does not anticipate that he will co-operate with the Democracy in the next House of Representatives. Then old Berks is indeed "redeemed, regenerated, and disenthralled!"

—Five additional steamers are talked of to reinforce the Paraguay fleet. It is now currently believed by all persons posted on South American affairs, that Lopez will fight. The commandants of the different navy yards where ships of the expedition are being fitted out have been requested to use all possible dispatch in preparing them. If the bottom had not fallen out of the Treasury, we might say that a large hole would be made in it before this Paraguay business is ended.

—Mr. Butterfield, the overland mail contractor, has been at Washington, seeking military protection for the route, but the Administration are little disposed to grant it, there being neither men nor money available for such a purpose.

—The Philadelphia Press gives a tabular statement of the number of Pennsylvanians upon whom diplomatic and consular offices have been bestowed by Mr. Buchanan. The number, exclusive of Glancy Jones, is twenty-six.

—Ex-President Pierce was at last accounts at Rome, in good health; but Mrs. Pierce was not improving.

—Of two hundred students at Gambier, Ohio, about sixty are known to be looking forward to the ministry of the Episcopal Church. At Nashotah, Wis., there are forty-three preparing for the Ministry.

—The Banner of the Cross (Catholic) gives a list of thirty-eight clergymen of the Episcopal Church, who, since the year 1815, have become converts to Catholicism, and fourteen of whom entered the Romish priesthood. Thus, it appears, remarks the Evening Post, that out of the three thousand clergymen who have ministered in the Protestant Episcopal Church since its establishment in the United States, two centuries and a half ago, only thirty eight have deserted to the Church of Rome. The defection is certainly much less than is popularly believed.

—The Rev. Jas. Pratt, rector of St. Stephen's, Portland, has resigned, to accept the charge of the parish of the late Rev. Dudley Tyng of Philadelphia. Mr. Pratt has been rector of St. Stephen's over twenty years. Salary, $5,000.

—Mrs. Crawford, widow of the sculptor, has gone to Italy to superintend, in person, the fulfillment of her gifted husband's last wishes in regard to the completion of several works partially executed at the time of his death. Many complete models of half-finished statues give ample employment to his master workman, who is familiar with his method and plans, and is conscientiously elaborating them. It is thought that two years more will be required to achieve the commissions, both government and private.

—Lola Montez, on the day before she sailed for Europe, gave a sharp thrust at the critics who charged her with plagiarism in her lectures on "Beautiful Women." The physiological part of them, she says, is duly credited to the proper authors. As to the rest: "Anybody who has brains enough to read my book intelligently can see that all the important parts of that lecture were drawn from my own personal observation, and refer to persons and events of my own time and acquaintance."

—Two German brothers in Calhoun County, Ill, married two German sisters. The elder brother fell sick, and the younger ran away with the sick man's wife. The convalescent brother then followed with the other wife, and now wants to swap back, but his own wife, who has tried both, says neither of the brothers is worth having.

Foreign Items.

The Court Circular says of Sir Charles Bright, the Engineer who has recently been knighted for his share in laying down the Atlantic Telegraph, that he is the youngest individual on whom that honor has been conferred for many a year. He is only twenty-six years of age, having been born in 1832.

—The funeral of the German writer, Varnhagen von Ense, who died suddenly on the 10th ult., while playing a game of chess with his niece, took place at Berlin on Thursday, in the presence of a large circle of persons of high rank, savans, artists, and noble ladies of the society of Berlin. Alexander von Humboldt, General Wrangel, Prof. Boeckh, &c., were among the mourners.

—It was stated some little time since that the eldest son of Count Schaafgotch, Marshal of the Court to Prince Charles, was to marry the richest heiress in Germany, but that an obstacle existed, as the young lady, although possessing a fortune of 30,000,000f., belonged to the lower classes, being the daughter of a simple proprietor of mines, and the marriage was not therefore an equal one. In order to remove this difficulty, letters of nobility have been accorded to the lady. A similar circumstance took place with regard to M'lle Sontag, who, before her union with Count Rossi, was made a baroness by the King.

—A society, with the singular name of "The Babel Club," has existed in London for two years. It was established to facilitate friendly relations between persons of different states and national origin—to promote greater mutual knowledge of the language, literature, etc., of different countries—and thus, as far as its sphere of action extends, remove existing prejudice and hatred.

A Love Story about the Iron Duke.

[From the Philadelphia Press.]

Whoever should endeavor to exhibit "the Iron Duke" as the hero of a romantic love story, in which sentiment is blended with chivalry, would probably be laughed at. Yet there really is such an incident, true in all particulars, and imbued with the delicacy and refinement of impassioned affection. At the risk of having this little love-passage ridiculed, we shall take leave to relate it.

At the age of twenty-eight, Arthur Wellesley, (or Wesley, as he wrote it at the time, according to an autograph in our little collection,) went to India, with the rank of full Colonel, obtained simply by the influence of his aristocratical birth and connections, and by money, in the tenth year of his military service. At that time, he was engaged to Catharine Pakenham, daughter of the Earl of Longford, and sister of General Sir Edward Michael Pakenham, who was killed in the battle of New Orleans. The lady, who was young and beautiful, was devotedly attached to Colonel Wellesley, and her affection was fully reciprocated. Called to India, where his elder brother was Governor-General, to take a leading part in the war with Tippoo Saib, this fortunate soldier had to leave his ladye-love behind. After an absence of years, during which he won rank and renown, he returned to England, where he was met by a latter from Miss Pakenham, informing him that the small pox had assailed and injured the beauty which he had so much admired, when life was younger and gayer with both of them, and, with tender sadness, assuring him that she had resolved to relieve him from his engagement. With the true feeling of an honorable mind, he assured her that her beauty had not been the only inducement to woo and win her, and that he was desirous of marrying her. Accordingly, the marriage took place, in 1806, within six months of his return from India. The only fruits of this union were two sons, one born in 1807, and the other in 1808.

In the spring of the latter year, Wellesley had to leave his wife, to take part in the Peninsular War. He returned for a short time, after the signing of the Convention of Cintra, but from 1809 until 1814, during which he rose, step by step, to the highest honors of the English peerage, he was detained on the Peninsula. The strong tie of married love was weakened by this prolonged absence, and the Duchess of Wellington, from the Waterloo victory of 1815 to her death in 1831, was not a happy wife. To the last, she deplored that a sense of honor had made the Duke marry her, against her own better judgment, when her beauty had become a thing of memory alone.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR
PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,
COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,
IS ONE OF THE BEST PURGATIVE and LIVER MEDICINES now before the public.
These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, purifying the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.
Billious attacks are cured, and, what is better prevented by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.
One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.
Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents nightmare.
Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures costiveness.
One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia.
One dose of two teaspoonfuls will always relieve Sick Headache.
Only one dose immediately relieves Colic, while LIVER INVIGORATOR.
One dose often repeated is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, and a preventative of Cholera.
Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.
One bottle taken for Jaundice removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.
One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite and makes the food digest well.
One dose, often repeated, cures Chronic Diarrhea in its worst form, while Summer and Bowel Complaints yield almost to the first dose.
A few bottles will cure Dropsy by exciting the absorbants.
We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventative for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Billious type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.
ALL WHO USE IT ARE GIVING THEIR UNANIMOUS TESTIMONY IN ITS FAVOR.
☞ Mix water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.
PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.
Dr. SANFORD, Proprietor, No. 345 Broadway, New York. Retailed by all Druggists. Sold, also, by BOLLES, SMITH & CO., 124 Lake-st., and FAHNESTOCK & DAVIS, 118 Randolph street.

Sewing Machines.

THE WONDER OF THE AGE!
THE LATEST PATENT OUT.—
NO INFRINGEMENT, BUT AN IMPROVEMENT ON ALL OTHER
SEWING MACHINES.

(Pratt's Patent.) The Ladies Companion Single and Double Thread Sewing Machines are warranted to do the work of any other family machine and equally well. They will stitch, hem and gather—and can be so adjusted that the work can be taken out, or so it cannot. There is no threading of the under needle, it threads itself. They are the simplest and most elegant machine in use. They do not miss stitches, and cannot be got out of order. It is less complicated by one-half than any other machine; there are no springs in it, and are so simple a child can sew with them. They sew with great rapidity and little noise. Every machine warranted. Satisfactory references given.

The price comes within the reach of all. The common Treadle machine $25. The Silver Plated, beautifully decorated, $30—all complete.

Agents wanted.

Communications answered, and samples sent on the receipt of a postage stamp. A good agent wanted for St. Louis. Prices same as in Boston.

A MARRIAGE TRAGEDY.

BY WILKIE COLLINS.

Continued.

She then turned to me, and began explaining the circumstances under which she had discovered her loss. I suggested that the missing things should be well searched for, first; and then, if nothing came of that, that I should go for the constable and place the matter under his direction. My mistress agreed to this plan; and the search was undertaken immediately. It lasted till dinner time, and led to no results. I then proposed going for the constable. But my mistress said it was too late to do anythig that day, and told me to wait at table as usual, and to go on my errand the first thing the next morning. Mr. Meeke was coming with some new music in the evening; and I suspect she was not willing to be disturbed at her favorite occupation by the arrival of the constable.

Dinner was over; the parson came; and the concert went on as usual through the evening. At ten o'clock I took up the tray, with the wine and soda-water and biscuits. Just as I was opening one of the bottles of soda-water, there was a sound of wheels on the drive outside, and a ring at the bell.

I had not fastened the wires of the cork, and could not put the bottle down to run at once to the door. One of the female servants answered it. I heard a sort of half scream—then a sound of footsteps that were familiar to me.

My mistress turned round from the piano, and looked at me.

"William!" she said. "Do you know that step?"

Before I could answer, the door was pushed open, and Mr. James Smith walked into the room.

He had his hat on. His long hair flowed down under it over the collar of his coat; his bright black eyes, after resting an instant on my mistress, turned to Mr. Meeke. His heavy eyebrows met together, and one of his hands went up to one of his bushy black whiskers, and pulled at it angrily.

"You here again!" he said, advancing a few steps toward the little parson who sat trembling all over, with his fiddle hugged up in his arms as if it had been a child.

Seeing her villianous husband advance, my mistress moved too, so as to face him. He turned round on her at the first step she took, as quick as lightning.

"You shameless woman!" he said. "Can you look me in the face in the presence of that man?" He pointed, as he spoke, to Mr. Meeke.

My mistress never shrunk when he turned upon her. Not a sign of fear was in her face when they confronted each other. Not the faintest flush of anger came into her cheeks when he spoke. The sense of the insult and injury that he had inflicted on her, and the consciousness of knowing his guilty secret, gave her all her self-possession at that trying moment. The high spirit that despised him spoke its contempt in every feature of the calm, haughty, unchanging face.

"I say to you again," he repeated, finding that she did not answer him, "How dare you look me in the face in the presence of that man?"

She raised her steady eyes to his hat, which he still kept on his head.

"Who has taught you to come into a room and speak to a lady with your hat on?" she asked, in quietly-contemptuous tones. "Is that a habit which is sanctioned by your new wife?"

My eyes were on him as she said those last words. His complexion, naturally dark and swarthy, changed instantly to a livid yellow white; his hand caught at the chair nearest to him; and he dropped into it heavily.

"I don't understand you," he said after a moment of silence, looking about the room unsteadily while he spoke.

"You do," said my mistress. "Your tongue lies, but your face speaks the truth."

He called back his courage and audacity by a desperate effort, and started up from the chair again with an oath. The instant before this happened I thought I heard the sound of a rustling dress in the passage outside, as if one of the women servants was stealing up to listen outside the door. I should have gone at once to see whether this was the case or not, but my master stopped me just after he had risen from the chair.

"Order the bed to be made in the Red Room, and light a fire their directly," he said, with his fiercest look and in his roughest tones. "When I ring the bell, bring me a kettle of boiling water and a bottle of brandy. As for you," he continued, turning toward Mr. Meeke, who still sat pale and speechless with his fiddle hugged up in his arms, "leave the house, or you won't find your cloth any protection to you."

At this insult the blood flew into my mistress' face. Before she could say anything Mr. James Smith raised his voice loud enough to drown hers.

"I won't hear another word from you," he cried out, brutally. "You have been talking like a mad woman—you look like a mad woman—you are out of your senses. As sure as you live I'll have you examined by the doctors to-morrow. Why the devil do you stand there, you scoundrel?" he roared, wheeling round on his heel to me. "Why don't you obey my orders?"

I looked at my mistress. If she had directed me to knock Mr. James Smith down, big as he was, I think at that moment I could have done it.

"Do as he tells you, William," she said, squeezing one of her hands firmly over her bosom, as if she was trying to keep down the rising indignation in that way. "This is the last order of his giving that I shall ask you to obey."

"Do you threaten me, you mad—?" He finished the question by a word that I shall not repeat.

"I tell you," she answered in clear, ringing, resolute tones, "that you have outraged me past all forgiveness and all endurance, and you shall never insult me again as you have insulted me to-night."

After saying those words, she fixed one steady look on him, then turned away and walked slowly to the door.

A minute previously, Mr. Meeke had summoned courage enough to get up and leave the room quietly. I noticed him walking demurely away, close to the wall, with his fiddle held under one tail of his long frock coat, as if he was afraid that the savage passions of Mr. James Smith might be wreaked on that unoffending instrument. He got to the door before my mistress. As he softly pulled it open, I saw him start, and I heard the rustling of the gown again in the passage outside.

My mistress followed him into the passage, turning, however, in the opposite direction to that taken by the little parson, in order to reach the stair-case that led to her own room. I went out next, leaving Mr. James Smith alone.

I overtook Mr. Meeke in the hall, and opened the door for him.

"I beg your pardon, Sir," I said, "but did you come upon anybody listening outside the music room when you left it just now?"

"Yes, William," said Mr. Meeke, in a faint voice. "I think it was the French maid. But I was so dreadfully agitated that I can't be quite certain about it."

Had she surprised our secret? That was the question I asked myself as I went away to light a fire in the Red Room. Calling to mind the exact time at which I had first detected the rustling outside the door, I came to the conclusion that she had only heard the last part of the quarrel between my mistress and her rascal of a husband. Those bold words about the "new wife," had been assuredly spoken before I heard Josephine stealing up to the door.

"As soon as the fire was alight and the bed made, I went back to the music-room to announce that my orders had been obeyed. Mr. James Smith was walking up and down, in a perturbed way, still keeping his hat on. He followed me to the Red Room without saying a word. Ten minutes later, he rang for the kettle and a bottle of brandy. When I took them in, I found him unpacking a small carpet bag, which was the only luggage he had brought with him. He still kept silence, and did not appear to take any notice of me. I left him for the night without our having exchanged so much as a single word.

So far as I could tell the night passed quietly.

The next morning I heard that my mistress was suffering so severely from a nervous attack that she was unable to rise from her bed. It was no surprise to me to be told that, knowing, as I did, what she had gone through the night before.

About nine o'clock, I went with the hot water to the Red Room. After knocking twice, I tried the door, and, finding it not locked, went in with the jug in my hand.

I looked at the bed; I looked all round the room. Not a sign of Mr. James Smith was to be seen anywhere.

Judging by appearances the bed had certainly been occupied. Thrown across the counterpane lay the night gown he had worn. I took it up and saw some spots on it. I looked at them a little closer. They were spots of blood.

CHAPTER III.

The first amazement and alarm produced by this discovery deprived me of my presence of mind. Without stopping to think what I ought to do first, I ran back to the servants' hall, calling out that something had happened to my master. All the household hurried directly into the Red Room, Josephine among the rest. I was first brought to my senses, as it were, by observing the strange expression of her countenance when she saw the bed-gown and the empty room. All the other servants were bewildered and frightened. She alone, after giving a little start, recovered herself directly. A look of devilish satisfaction broke out on her face; and she left the room quickly and quietly without exchanging a word with any of us. I saw this, and it aroused my suspicions. There is no need to mention what they were, for as events soon showed, they were entirely wide of the mark.

Having come to myself a little, I sent them all out of the room, except the coachman. We then examined the place. The Red Room was usually occupied by visitors. It was on the ground floor, and looked out into the garden. We found the window-shutters, which I had barred over night, open, but the window itself was down. The fire had been out long enough for the grate to be quite cold. Half the bottle of brandy had been drunk. The carpet-bag was gone. There were no marks of violence or struggling anywhere about the bed or the room. We examined every corner carefully, but made no other discoveries than these.

When I returned to the servants' hall, bad news of my mistress was awaiting me there. The unusual noise and confusion in the house had reached her ears, and she had been told what had happened without sufficient caution being exercised in preparing her to hear. In her weak, nervous state, the shock of the intelligence had quite prostrated her. She had fallen into a swoon, and had been brought back to her senses with the greatest difficulty. As to giving anybody else directions what to do under the embarrassing circumstances which had now occurred, she was totally incapable of the effort.

I waited till the middle of the day, in the hope that she might get strong enough to give her orders; but no message came from her. At last I resolved to send and ask her what she thought it best to do. Josephine was the proper person to go on this errand; but when I asked for Josephine, she was nowhere to be found. The housemaid, who had searched for her ineffectually, brought word that her bonnet and shawl were not hanging in their usual places. The parlor-maid, who had been in attendance in my mistress's room, came down while we were all aghast at this new disappearance. She could only tell us that Josephine had begged her to do lady's maid's duty that morning as she was not well. Not well! And the first result of her illness appeared to be that she had left the house.

I cautioned the servants on no account to mention this circumstance to my mistress, and then went up stairs myself to knock at her door, and ask if I might count on her approval if I wrote in her name, to her relation the lawyer in London, and if I afterward went and gave information of what had occurred to the nearest justice of the peace. I might have sent to make this inquiry through one of the female servants; but by this time, though not naturally suspicious, I had got to distrust everybody in the house, whether they deserved it or not.

So I asked the question myself, standing outside the door. My mistress thanked me in a faint voice, and begged me to do what I had purposed immediately.

I went into my own bedroom and wrote to the lawyer, merely telling him that Mr. James Smith had appeared unexpectedly at the Hall, and that events had occurred in consequence which required his immediate presence. I made the letter up like a parcel, and sent the coachman with it to catch the mail on its way through to London.

The next thing was to go to the justice of the peace. The nearest lived about five miles off, and was well acquainted with my mistress. He was an old bachelor, and he kept house with his brother who was a widower. The two were much respected and beloved in the county, being kind, unaffected gentlemen who did a great deal among the poor. The justice was Mr. Robert Nicholson, and his brother, the widower, was Mr. Philsp.

I had got my hat on, and was asking the groom which horse I had better take, when an open carriage drove up to the house. It contained Mr. Philip Nicholson and two persons in plain clothes, not exactly servants and not exactly gentlemen, as far as I could judge.

Mr. Philip looked at me when I touched my hat to him, in a very grave, downcast way, and asked for my mistress. I told him she was ill in bed. He shook his head at hearing that, and said he wished to speak to me in private. I showed him into the library. One of the men in plain clothes followed us, and sat in the hall. The other waited with the carriage.

"I was just going out, Sir," I said, as I set a chair for him, "to speak to Mr. Robert Nicholson about a very extraordinary circumstance—"

"I know what you refer to," said Mr. Philip cutting me short, rather abruptly; "and I must beg, for reasons which will presently appear, that you will make no statement of any sort to me until you have first heard what I have to say. I am here on a very serious and a very shocking errand, which deeply concerns your mistress and you."

His face suggested something worse than his words expressed. My heart began to beat fast, and I felt that I was turning pale.

"Your master, Mr. James Smith," he went on, "came here unexpectedly, yesterday evening, and slept in this house last night. Before he retired to rest, he and your mistress had high words together, which ended, I am sorry to hear, in a threat of a serious nature addressed by Mrs. James Smith to her husband. They slept in separate rooms. This morning you went into your master's room and saw no sign of him there. You only found his night-gown on the bed, spotted with blood."

"Yes, Sir," I said, in as steady a voice as I could command. "Quite true."

"I am not examining you," said Mr. Philip. "I am only making a certain statement, the truth of which you can admit or deny before my brother."

"Before your brother, Sir!" I repeated. "Am I suspected of any thing wrong?"

"There is a suspicion that Mr. James Smith has been murdered," was the answer I received to that question.

My flesh began to creep all over from head to foot. I tried to speak again, but the words would not come.

"I am shocked, I am horrified to say," Mr. Philip went on, "that the suspicion affects your mistress, in the first place, and you, in the second."

I shall not attempt to describe what I felt when he said that. No words of mine, no words of anybody's, could give an idea of it. What other men would have done in my situation I don't know. I stood before Mr. Philip, staring straight at him, without speaking, without moving, almost without breathing. If he, or any other man, had struck me at that moment, I do not believe I should have felt the blow.

"Both my brother and myself," said Mr. Philip, "have such unfeigned respect for your mistress, such sympathy for her under these frightful circumstances, and such an implicit belief in her capability of proving her inocence that we are desirous of sparing her in this dreadful trial as much as possible. For those reasons, I have undertaken to come here with the persons appointed to execute my brother's warrant—"

"Warrant, Sir!" I said, getting command of myself as he pronounced that word. "A warrant against my mistress!"

"Against her and against you," said Mr. Philip. "The suspicious circumstances have been sworn to by a competent witness, who has declared on oath that your mistress is guilty, and that you are an accomplice."

"What witness, Sir?"

"Your mistress' French maid, who came to my brother's this morning, and who has made her deposition in due form."

"And who is as false as hell," I cried out passionately, "in every word she says against my mistress and against me."

EXILES OF FLORIDA,
NOW READY.

THE SUBSCRIBERS TAKE PLEASURE in announcing that they have now a fresh supply of this remarkable work, of which the DEMAND HAS BEEN GREATER THAN THE SUPPLY.

"The escaped Negroes and Seminoles of Florida have certainly, at last, found a historian who has done their deeds, their wrongs and their sufferings full justice, not to say that in doing so he may have borne somewhat severely upon others connected with that history. Mr. Giddings is a plain and severe writer of his own peculiar views and opinions, and is apt to give to what he says the coloring of his own prejudices. He is, however, truthful and well versed in what he has here undertaken. No one can help warming into indignation with him as they read of the base and cowardly pursuit and annihilation of the poor descendants of the Seminoles."—[Daily Wisconsin.

HOP YEAST.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS.—Knowing the difficulty of getting Good Yeast in this city and county, the undersigned has commenced the manufacture of Hop Yeast in Chicago. It is put up in the form of a dry cake and is known as the "New England Dry Hop Yeast Cake." They may be had of any respectable Grocer in the city, and towns in this and adjoining states. By using these cakes and keeping them on hand, you can in two minutes time have a cup of fresh yeast and at an expense of one penny.

DIRECTIONS FOR USING.—Break a cake into a cup of blood warm water—it will dissolve in two minutes—then make your sponge and set it to rise over night. Knead your dough well and keep it warm until ready for the oven, and you will have better bread than with any other yeast. One cake is sufficient for three quarts of flour. Retail price, 1 shilling for a package of 12 cakes, or $1.00 for a gross box.

Inquire of your grocer for the New England Dry Hop Yeast Cake, and take nothing else if you would have good raised bread. If he has not got it ask him to get it for you. Manufactory on Cottage Grove Avenue, near the Car Works, Chicago, Ill. P. O. address Box 3124. Grocers orders promptly filled whether in city or country.

HOTEL TO EXCHANGE FOR CITY PROPERTY, or FOR SALE ON LIBERAL TERMS.

This Hotel is situated in the flourishing town of Weyauwego, Waupacca county, Wisconsin; a place containing twenty-five hundred inhabitants, and stands on the corner of the two principal streets. It is a new building three stories high, containing fifty-four rooms, and is well constructed for a public house and is the best one in the place; has a stable attached, 45x75, that will accommodate 50 horses. There are two daily lines of stages that run to and from this house, also a daily line of steamers on the Wolf and Fox rivers, that stop within a short distance.

The property will be exchanged for city property or merchandise, or sold on the most reasonable terms. If not sold, it will be rented for a term of years. This is a smart business place, and a good chance for a man acquainted with the hotel business to make money. A Daguerreotype of the premises can be seen at 170 Monroe-street, where further information can be obtained, or at the land office of J. J. GALLAGHER & CO.

Atkins' Reaper—The Factory to Lease.

THIS ESTABLISHMENT THE SUBscriber desires to lease to responsible and energetic parties at a low rent, who will build the Atkins' Self-Raking Reaper and Mower.

Both in Grain and Grass this has been found by the successful use of over 2,000 machines to be the best. As a GRAIN and LABOR-SAVER it is unequalled, and is also a first-rate mower. The factory and also the foundry is abundantly supplied with all requisite tools to build the Reaper economically, as also any other work in wood and iron. A large stock of Reaper materials on hand will be sold to the lessee at a bargain.

COMMERCIAL.

Commercial and Money Matters.

SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 6, 1858.

The day has been dull and stormy, imparting a sombre tone to business. Rates unchanged, as follows, viz: Bank discounts 10 per cent. Exchange 1 per cent.; Gold 1@1¼ per cent. premium.

COMMERCIAL.—The Wheat market was firmer to-day. Spring Wheat advanced 3@4c, with sales of about 25,000 bushels at 65½@69c for No. 2 in store; and 57@58c for Rejected—the market closing quiet but firm. Winter Wheat was in fair inquiry; but buyers and sellers were 1@2c apart—$1.00 being asked and 98c offered for No. 1 Red.

The Flour market remains quiet. There is considerable inquiry and a disposition to buy, but holders are firm. Choice Spring Extras sold at $3 80@3 85. Very little doing in Winter, except for Retail trade.

The receipts of Corn are still very trifling, and the demand is active. About 7,000 bushels were sold to day at 63½c for No. 1 on board, and 60c for No. 2 in store.

The Provision market remains firm, and there is an evident upward tendency. 2,000 bbls. Mess Pork were sold to-day at $14.50 for delivery in Milwaukee in January next at seller's option. Lard is quiet; 100 bbls for December delivery were sold at 9¾c.

Some of our winter pork packers commenced killing hogs to-day. The weather, however, is too warm yet to allow packing to any great extent.

The Hog market was active to-day, with large receipts. Choice Hogs sold at $4.25@4 40 gross; and light, $3.80@4.00. We hear of 2,000 Hogs being sold to-day at $5.25 net—deliverable all this month at seller's option—the Hogs to weigh 190 lbs net.

The market for Beeves is dull, owing to large receipts and disagreeable weather.

Freights remain dull and heavy.

The receipts at Toledo on the 5th inst. were: 1,851 bbls Flour, 3,669 bu wheat, and 2,467 bu Corn. White Wheat sold at $1@1.02; Red, 90c@$1. Corn, 56½c.

At St. Louis yesterday (the 5th) 100 bbls Mess Pork were sold at $15 50. On account of Chicago buyers being in the market, Timothy Seed reached $1 75@1.90 per bu. Whisky sold at 19@20c—having advanced ¼c. Corn and Oats advanced 1@2c—with sales of the former at 60@65c, and of the latter at 55@65c, according to quality.

At Milwaukee yesterday the receipts were: 713 bbls Flour, 8,542 bu Wheat, 2,378 bu Oats, 1,431 bu Barley. The Wheat Market was firmer on account of light receipts. Extra Spring Wheat sold at 84@85c; No. 1, 75@76c. Flour was more active, with sales of Spring Extras at $3 95@4 25; White Winter, $4.50@5.00. Oats, 38@40c. Barley, 40@60c.

The stock of Pork at New Orleans compares as follows: 1st November, 1858, 6,300 bbls; 1st October, 1858, 10,940 bbls; 1st November, 1857, 3,888 bbls.

The Cincinnati markets of yesterday are thus reported by the Commercial:

Flour is dull at quotation, with a tendency to recede, there being no encouragement to shippers nor to millers.

Whisky is weakening in price, being slow at market prices, which will be seen to be lower than yesterday.

Packers appear to be quite impatient of the delay occasioned by the continued unfavorable weather and anxious to get their cleavers to work. Two houses are cutting to-day about 700 hogs. Other lots are on the books to be cut to-morrow. The market is firm at quotations, with an inclination among drovers to advance figures some, which will probably be effected.

Choice qualities of Beef are not offering to packers freely there seeming to be an effort to get a second rate quality on the market. Whether there are choice lots in reserve for a later market is problematical. We incline to think that feeders for this market will get their stock in early to save their corn, if it is to come in this season.

At Louisville on the 5th, 400 bbls Mess Pork were sold at $15 25. Whisky sold at 18c.

The Paris Moniteur, of October 9, contains a decree proroguing until 30th Sept., 1859, the operation of the sliding scale of duties regulating the imports and exports of foreign grain in France. These duties were postponed Sept. 5, 1853, to 1854, by decree of Oct. 9, 1854, to 1855. Sept. 22, 1855, they were delayed to 1856. Oct. 7, 1856, they were postponed to 1857. Oct. 12th, 1857, they were postponed until 1858, and now again to 1859. The decree affects grain and flour, rice, potatoes and dried vegetables.

This year the crops are again good, and the price of flour now in Paris 50f. per 157 kilos., equal to $5 37 per bbl. It is sold at that rate deliverable in the first four months of 1859, hence it is not scarcity that requires the new decree, which may, on the other hand, be taken as a further indication of the free trade tendencies of the government.

THE HOG CROP.

[From the Cincinnati Price Current.]

The views that we have thus presented lead us to anticipate an increase in the hog crop of 1858–9. This will be chiefly realized in Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Tennessee. Ohio and Kentucky will probably hold their own, but no more. The packing, as reported last year, in the several States named, were as follows:

Ohio	399,787
Kentucky	357,510
Indiana	423 9 6
Illinois	425,411
Missouri	173 436
Iowa	86,663
Tennessee	37,875
Total	2,114 778

The increase in the five last named States, viz., in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Tennessee, will, in the aggregate, range from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. in number. We do not think there will be any material decrease or increase from last year in the average weight. Hogs have passed through the summer in good condition. The corn that is now being fed to them is of superior quality—much better than that used last year—and the animals promise to come forward in good order.

The conclusions we have thus arrived at may be stated in brief, as follows: 1. Very light stocks of old products on the 1st of December. 2. An increased consumption in 1859 3. No material difference in the average weight as compared with last year. 4. An increase in number, in the total crop, of, say, twenty per cent.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, Tuesday Evening, Nov. 2, '58.

The week opens quietly with the commission houses. To-day, of course, the pending election attracts universal attention both in country and city. The increasing coolness of the weather promises an increase in the amount of the near-by trade, as the week progresses.

The market for cotton fabrics show no essential change since the date of our last report. Heavy brown sheetings standard width and weight, of regular makes, are maintained for ordinary sales at 8¼c; for large purchases or for export there would probably be a little concession made, but we do not hear of any considerable movement, and holders are not pressing sales. Stout brown drills, in 40 yard pieces are still held at 8½c, the market closing somewhat firmer last week, owing to the receipt of more favorable advices from China. Fine bleached goods are selling steadily for near-by trade at fair prices. The [illegible] trade being almost over, the lower grades are in less request, and there is now a fair supply of ⅞ below 8c. Print cloths are quiet here; in Providence there is a moderate supply, and sales are making at previous rates.

Prints are quiet. A few things adapted to the near-by trade, especially good styles of cross-overs, find buyers.

In woolens there is no movement of importance to notice. The market is dull and irregular. Clothiers are doing a little in Spring fabrics, but their present wants are mostly supplied by delivery on orders given directly to the manufacturer.

Good styles of ladies' shawls continue to sell.

Manufacturers throughout the country are making, we think, rather more extended preparations for their spring work than they did for the Fall season. A long winter is just at hand, and operatives must have fuller employment or they cannot live in many instances. But the gold-current is now setting with increased rapidity towards the South and Southwest, and there is every reason to anticipate a much better trade with that section in spring than during the past season, considering especially the prevalence of the epidemic in the seaboard cities.—[U. S. Economist.

New York Cattle Market.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 3.

BEEVES.—There was a large supply of Beeves in the various yards to-day, the numbers amounting to 4,130 head—an increase of 842 over the supply of the previous week. The quality of the cattle was generally poor, a large proportion being quite inferior. Buyers generally were cautious in their purchases, and under the influence of increased supply and the poorness of the cattle, prices have declined about ½c. The highest price paid was 9½c, but only the best cattle in market could command that price. Most of the sales were effected at prices ranging from 6½@8c, and a good many of the poorest sold as low as 5½@6c. The demand was principally for the better qualities, which holders did not find much difficulty in disposing of. About one fourth of the number at market were New York State cattle—1,065 head being from this State. At Bergen there was a fair business done, 750 head having been sold at lower prices. The quality of the cattle at this market was nothing to boast of.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.—The arrivals this week are only to a moderate extent, showing a slight falling off from those of last week. The demand is good, and is about equal to the supply. Prices have slightly advanced—sales having been made as high as 6¼c, but only for the best on the market. The range is from $2 50@6 62½.

SWINE.—There is a large supply in the yards, and the demand is only moderate. Prices, however, have advanced, and the sales range from 4@5¼.

Disasters.

THE PROPELLER—[illegible] propeller, which was reported [illegible] in the gale off [illegible] with a signal of distress [illegible] raised, was towed into Detroit on Friday by the steamer Gore. She had broken her shaft.

GALE ON LAKE ONTARIO.—Capt. Pratt,—says the Detroit Tribune, who left Toronto last evening, reports a violent gale on Lake Ontario on Wednesday. Four vessels were driven ashore near Toronto. A vessel supposed to be the Jenny Lind was ashore at Port Credit.

LOSS OF THE NAPOLEON.—Capt. Pratt, Inspector of the North Western Insurance Co., returned last evening with the engine, boiler, anchors, chains, &c., of the propeller Napoleon, lost near Saugeen last November. The engine is a little broken, but is in the main, in as good order as could have been expected.—[Detroit Tribune, 5th.

SUPPOSED WRECK.—Capt Cottrell, of the steamer Forest Queen, who arrived from Saginaw to day informs us that portions of the cabin and furniture of a vessel were found floating in Tawas Bay yesterday, and it is feared a disaster has occurred, with, perhaps, loss of life.—[Ib.

THE
OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY,
PROFESSOR WOOD'S
HAIR RESTORATIVE.

SAYS THE ST. LOUIS (MO.) DEMOCRAT: Below we publish a letter to Dr. Wood, of this city, from a gentleman in Maine, which speaks glowingly of the superior merits of his Hair Tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If certificates are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no encomiums, nor useless puffery from the press:
BATH, MAINE, Jan. 20, 1858.

Professor O. J. Wood & Co.:

GENTLEMEN:—Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite grey, probably one-third white; my whiskers were of the same character, some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I had wished. I used it about twice a week. I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the grey or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has assumed its natural color, and I believe more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty years old; my good wife, at the age of fifty-two, has used it with the same effect.

The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statements. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly every one here and adjoining towns. Any use you may make of the above, with my name attached, is at your service, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am truly yours,
A. C. RAYMOND.
BALTIMORE, Jan. 23, 1858.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1854, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to answer as the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.
FINLEY JOHNSON.

The undersigned, Rev. J. K. Bragg, is a minister in regular standing, and pastor of the Orthodox Church at Brookfield, Mass. He is a gentleman of considerable influence and universally beloved. WM. DYER.
BROOKFIELD, January 12, 1858.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Having made a trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say, that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff and a constant tendency to itching with which I have been troubled from my childhood; and has also restored my hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the same pleasure or profit.
Yours truly, J. K. BRAGG.

The Restorative is put up in Bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent. more in proportion, and retails for three dollars a bottle.

ECONOMY AND COMFORT.

A Ton of Coal Saved during the Winter, and the House made Warmer than before! "We live that," is heard from all sides, "But how is it to be done?" In the easiest way imaginable Get one of TOVREY'S ADJUSTABLE DOOR SPRINGS, and one of the EXCELSIOR WEATHER STRIPS, and your ton of Coal is saved, or, it may be, two tons, before spring. The SPRINGS will always keep your doors shut, and the WEATHER STRIPS will arrest the stream of cold air that now flows in, day and night, beneath them. Try them at once and begin to save your money. Sauce for the Goose is Sauce for Gander.

The taunts with which Mr. Douglas salu Judge Trumbull, when the latter took seat in the Senate, are well remembered thousands of our readers in Illinois. T bear in mind the allegation used by him, t Mr. Trumbull was a "minority Senato and they have not forgotten his famous pro sition to resign, if Trumbull would do same, and run the race over again. He t had but the fraction of a term to serve o while Trumbull was fresh from the hands a majority of the people of the State.

"Is not sauce for the goose sauce for gander!" Will not the rule which Mr. Do las laid down for his colleague's observa work well in his own case? He establis it and insisted upon its application; now let him abide by it. He is the "mino ty" Senator whenever he takes his s The people have declared against him pla and emphatically. Now let him prove b resignation that what is sauce for the go is sauce for the gander. The question Will Senator Douglas resign? Will Sena Douglas resign?

Meeting of the Board of Trade.

Yesterday noon, a meeting of the Board Trade was held at their rooms—Julian S. R sey, Esq., President, in the chair; W. Mitchell, Esq., Secretary.

The President stated that the object of meeting was to hear the report of the Standi Committee on the case of Coe vs. Van Inwag when a majority report by Messrs. Stewar Richards, and a minority report by Geo. How, Esq., were read. After some expla tions by the parties concerned, the minority port was accepted and the majority report jected by a vote of the members of the Boa

This case, which has occupied much atten was as follows:—Some time in August l Messrs. Van Inwagen & Co., bought of W. Coe a cargo of prime Canal Corn. The C was received on board the propeller Kenosh Mr. Van Inwagen having employed an inspe and placed him on board to see that Corn went into the propeller from the wa house (Munn & Scott's) sound and in good c dition. The corn was received by the inspe as sound, paid for by Van Inwagen, and sh ped to Buffalo. Before this cargo of corn sold below, Van Inwagen & Co. purchased other cargo of corn for Mr. Coe, and the was delivered; but before the latter carg corn was paid for, Van Inwagen & Co. recei intelligence from Buffalo that the previ cargo, shipped by the prop. Kenosha, had rived warm, and had to be sold at a los about $2,300; upon receipt of which inte gence, he proposed deducting this loss from price of the second cargo of corn purchas Seeing no recourse but a law-suit (Van Inwag having refused to submit the matter to th ference committee of the Board of Trade), submitted to a loss of $1,400; but laid matter before the Board of Trade, for them decide whether such an act was in accordan with the principles which govern the Board.

The majority report averred that, as the co was sold by sample, Coe was responsible for condition, and that although the inspector testify to its being sound, still that did not fr Coe from the consequences of its proving sound. The minority report, on the other ha decided that the inspector was Van Inwage agent, and that his receiving the corn as soun was equivalent to its being received by Van I wagen & Co.—that had it been unsound it o to have been rejected while coming out of warehouse—and that Mr. Van Inwagen, and Mr. Coe, ought to be responsible for neglect or omissions of the inspector—and th fore the keeping back of any money from Coe, was contrary to the principles which ern the Board of Trade in their transactions.

Both reports agreed in exonerating the wa housemen, Messrs. Munn & Scott, from blame in the matter;—that there were grounds for the assumption of collusion betw them and the inspector.

After the above matter was disposed of, following resolution was offered by Geo. Wright, Esq.:

Resolved, That in the opinion of certain bers of this Board, great irregularities have curred in the grading of grain, more especi in that known as No. 2 Spring Wheat; and th a Committee consisting of Messrs. Wet Weller and McChesney be appointed to inve gate and report upon the subject on Mond next at 7 P. M.

The above resolution being passed, the Bo adjourned till next Monday evening.
